Maximum 4-Cent Mile Rate Would
Save Province Around $300,000

The provincial government today asked the Board of Transport Commissioners at Ottawa to reduce all railway passenger fares in British Columbia to a maximum of four cents a mile.

Police Kill One as 1,600 Prisoners Riot

Armed Guardsmen
Enter Ohio Jail

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 3 (AP)—State police killed one of 1,600 rioting convicts in Ohio Penitentiary today and a few minutes later a National Guard company armed with rifles and machine-guns marched inside the walls.

About 100 guardsmen reinforced 21 state patrolmen who had been holding the convicts at bay with a cross-cross shotgun barrage down the corridors of four battered cell blocks.

The guardsmen had been standing by outside the prison since Friday night.

THREE WOUNDED
Warden Ralph Alvis identified the dead man as Carlyle Noel, 30, serving two to 10 years for housebreaking.

Three other convicts were wounded earlier today. A fourth was shot Sunday.

Outside the prison, police riot guns spewed fire in a giant "X" down the corridors of cellblocks G, H, I and K.

Only this line of pelting lead kept 1,600 screaming convicts from charging 21 patrolmen locked inside the cellblocks with them.

Occasionally one of the madmen tried to reach a stairway at the end of the hall. Then the cross-cross fire lowered and probed at the sneaking, running figure.

That's how the three men were wounded today.

There was no indication when prison guards, state police and 400 Ohio National Guard soldiers were able to bring an end to the 60-hour, $1,000,000 food riot that began Friday.

Anglican Liquor Brief Sharply Hit By Clergy

A brief submitted by the Church of England in Canada before the liquor inquiry board sitting in Vancouver brought sharp criticism today.

The brief had urged the establishment of sale of spirits be permitted in residential areas and that the "local option" principle be avoided.

Rev. Dr. J. R. Mutchmor, secretary of the board of evangelism and social service, United Church of Canada, urged in Vancouver today that liquor by the glass be sold only through government-owned and operated outlets, and said British Columbians should discount the advice of the "eat, drink and be merry boys."

Dr. Mutchmor said the United Church believes the tax on hard liquor should be increased.

Criticism was also expressed here Sunday by Rev. F. E. H. James in his morning sermon at Metropolitan United Church.

Dr. James denounced the action of the Bishop of New Westminster and his associates for declaring that "people everywhere in the province should bear equal responsibility in permitting establishment of liquor premises to meet legitimate local requirements."

He said that not only was this action on the part of the clergy a direct denial of democratic principles, but was the finest support that the church could give to the liquor traffic that has been notoriously responsible for the downfall of thousands.

"What is the church coming to," he said, "when its ordained leaders promote the sale of strong drink and advocate the imposition of undesirable premises upon communities which have expressed their opposition to these places?"

At a time when the ravages of intemperance are glaring, and the per capita consumption of alcohol higher than ever before in the history of the land, it is a disgrace for the spiritual leaders of a great church to declare themselves in favor of any policy which is sure to widen the sale of liquor in any form," Dr. James said.

MODERATOR HEARD
The moderator of the general assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada said here today he is against the relaxation of liquor restrictions in British Columbia and elsewhere in Canada.

"Providing the means to make liquor more easily available, such as through cocktail bars and the like, will only tend to increase the drinking habit among young people," said Rev. J. A. MacInnis, who is visiting Victoria.

The tall minister, a veteran of the First World War, said drinking can only be curbed through a program of education conducted by schools and Christian churches and the imposition of liquor restrictions.

"The governments can co-operate by making liquor more difficult to obtain," he said.

He said the plateau is rich in mineral wealth.

Canada Urges Korean Peace On Communists

U.N. Hears Martin
On Prisoner Issue

By NORMAN ALTSTEDTER
UNITED NATIONS, Nov. 3 (CP)—Canada today told the United Nations there is apparently only a "small area of disagreement" on the key war-prisoners issue and urged Russia to accept humanitarian principles to solve the Korean deadlock.

Health Minister Paul Martin told the general assembly's political committee one solution might be to send Chinese and North Korean prisoners into custody of a "protecting power" composed of a group of states where they would decide whether they want to go home or not.

The leader of the Canadian delegation dealt almost exclusively in his 6,000-word prepared text with the war-prisoners question, the only issue blocking a cease-fire in Korea. He made no formal proposals but offered suggestions and queries aimed at Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky, seeking clarification of Soviet views.

Martin said there are only three possible interpretations of the stand taken by the Communists on a Korean issue.

He said if the Communists are in good faith it should not be difficult to reach agreement; if there is a misunderstanding then serious study must continue; if they are in bad faith "the problem becomes insoluble."

RESOLUTION ENDORSED
Martin gave full endorsement to the 21-country resolution on Korea, supported by Canada, which he said aims to impress upon the enemy that the U.N. is determined to "protect the interests of the individual in a situation of peril."

"We must know whether the enemy is prepared or not to conclude an armistice which recognizes... certain basic rights of the individual or whether he simply uses devices in order to prevent the cessation of hostilities."

The Communists have demanded so far that Chinese and North Korean prisoners must all be repatriated. The U.N. insists it will not force prisoners to return.

The Canadian said that Vishinsky's proposal for a new commission to settle the Korean question appears to be putting the "cart before the horse." He said the Russian proposal adds to the confusion. Canada could agree to a commission which would take up political questions involved "but only after an armistice is reached."

Cautious Pollsters Favor Ike By Narrow Margin

MRS. GEO. PEPPIN

City Woman's Strange Death Under Inquiry

Instantly killed when she was struck in the eye by a Halloween rocket during Vancouver's celebrations, Mrs. George Peppin, 28, was a Victoria woman.

She is the former Miss Vera Bartlett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Bartlett, of 1868 Forrester Street.

An inquest into her extraordinary death will be held Tuesday.

Mrs. Peppin was at Central Park watching the fireworks with her 18-month-old daughter, Marilyn Mae, in her arms when the skyrocket struck her in the eye. The rocket penetrated her brain. The child was unhurt.

Mrs. Peppin served in the Women's Division of the R.C.A.F. during the Second World War. Her husband is employed as an engineer for the Canadian Pacific Airlines.

Her brother is Tommy Bartlett, who left the Oak Bay Police force recently to work for Crown Zellerbach in Port Angeles.

Her twin sisters, Vivian and Francis, both live in Victoria.

Deadly Mortar Fire Halts South Koreans

SEOUL, Korea, Nov. 3 (AP)—Deadly Chinese mortar fire today cut to bits and stopped cold a series of South Korean attacks on bloody Triangle Hill.

At least four times the Roks stormed the crest. Dug-in Chinese stood them off with mortar fire and hand grenades.

Big United Nations guns literally blew the top off triangle and saturated Red positions in a valley to the north. The barrage disrupted the Chinese artillery batteries, but it couldn't suppress the lighter, more accurate mortars, nor rout Red troops from their holes and tunnels.

Gen. James A. Van Fleet, United States Eighth Army commander, said in a statement that Allied forces are "in complete control of the situation" at Triangle and nearby Sniper Ridge.

"We can and will continue to chew up all the Chinese they want to throw into battle," he asserted.

South Koreans are clinging to positions on Sniper's crest. Allied raiding parties jabbed Chinese lines on the western front. There was scattered action elsewhere, but nothing to match the central front fighting for savage intensity.

TIMES ELECTION SERVICE INCLUDES EXTRA EDITION

Because of the intense interest in the U.S. presidential election tomorrow the Victoria Daily Times will give a full service on the returns.

For telephone information the number is Beacon 3131. From the Canadian and Associated Press services, and the British United Press, the progressive counting of ballots will be reported, with analysis of trends to give the indicated results as soon as possible.

Shortly after 9 p.m., which will be midnight in the eastern states, the Times will issue an extra giving the latest returns up to that time. Should there be a landslide one way or another, it will almost certainly be indicated by that time.

Hectic Campaign Ends Tonight

Ike and Adlai Forces to Fill Air,
TV Screens With Last-Minute Pleas

NEW YORK, Nov. 3 (CP)—The wordiest election campaign in United States history will wind up tonight with expensive bursts of television and radio oratory from two cities.

Dwight Eisenhower, Republican candidate for President, has chosen Boston for the wind-up of his campaign.

Adlai Stevenson, Democratic nominee, will deliver election eve addresses in Chicago.

Stevenson, President Truman, Vice-President Alben Barkley and Senator John Sparkman of Alabama, Democratic candidate for Vice-President, will join in a final appeal over four TV and radio networks at 10:30 p.m. EST (7:30 PST).

Stevenson was reported today carefully putting the finishing touches to his speech. One of his advisers said "this one will be a winner. He wanted to write every word of it himself—and we don't know what he will say."

At 10 p.m. EST Eisenhower will make his last major address in a rally in the Boston Garden Auditorium. The speech will be televised and broadcast by Seattle station KJR at 7 p.m. PST.

At 11 p.m. he takes part in an hour-long TV and radio presentation over four TV and four radio networks.

U.S. Markets Shut Tuesday

NEW YORK, Nov. 3 (CP)—All stock exchanges and grain markets in the United States will remain closed tomorrow, election day.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture will issue reports from major livestock centres as usual.

Occupants of Union Wharf included two general storage warehouses and six wooden boxes and crate storage firms.

Fire Chief John Stapleton said the Union Wharf warehouse would cost about $2,000,000 to replace. He estimated actual damage to the structure at $250,000.

Few Thousand Votes Could Swing Race to Landslide

NEW YORK, Nov. 3 (AP)—Survey of three public opinion polls today showed them inclined to think Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower is ahead in the United States presidential race—but none flatly picked him to win.

The three, which have made their final surveys, are the Crossley poll, the Elmo Roper poll and the Samuel Lubell analysis made for the Scripps-Howard newspapers. Gallup poll results will not be available until tonight.

The Crossley conclusion was that, as of the middle of last week, Eisenhower, the Republican candidate, would get 47.7 per cent of the popular vote to 42.3 for Governor Adlai E. Stevenson and 0.4 for other candidates.

The poll listed 9.9 per cent of the vote as undecided.

Roper said: "Our final poll, for which the interviewing ended only Friday night, shows that there are enough people still undecided to throw this election either way."

"Should the pro-Eisenhower trend prove strong enough to crack three or four of the big city states, then Ike would win by a landslide."

Archibald M. Crossley, director of the Crossley poll, noted that his figures leaned toward the Republican nominee, but he added: "There are four major reasons why the final conclusion must be that the election can still go either way."

He went on to cite them as follows: "The extremely narrow margins by which states with large electoral votes such as New York, Illinois and others are likely to be won by one side or the other."

"Our electoral system which makes it possible for a candidate, even with a minority of popular votes, to win the election by a considerable majority in the electoral college."

"Whatever last-minute effect there may be of dramatic announcements, or of aggressive promotion by either side, on the late decision for whom to vote or whether to vote at all."

"The normal allowable variation involved in a sample of the population."

Outcome 'Highly Uncertain'

NEW YORK, Nov. 3 (AP)—The New York Times says today that reports from its correspondents throughout the United States indicate that the outcome of Tuesday's presidential contest is "highly uncertain."

According to the reports, the Times says, neither Republican Dwight Eisenhower nor Democrat Adlai Stevenson "can be regarded as of now as certain of election."

The newspaper's lead story added: "The reports indicate that the vote in many states might be so close that either candidate could obtain a sizeable majority of the electoral votes."

"In other words, a comparatively few thousand votes, placed properly in the seemingly doubtful states, may determine the result of the election."

There are 531 electoral votes, and 266 are necessary to elect a president.

The Times, which supports Eisenhower, gives this state-by-state breakdown of the outlook—as recorded by correspondents—with the electoral votes in each state:

'Sure' States Favor Stevenson

For Eisenhower—Maine 3, New Hampshire 4, Vermont 3, New Jersey 16, Indiana 13, Nebraska 6, Kansas 8, North Dakota 4, South Dakota 4, Idaho 4, Oregon 6—Total 73.

For Stevenson—Missouri 13, Kentucky 10, West Virginia 8, North Carolina 14, South Carolina 8, Georgia 12, Alabama 11, Mississippi 8, Arkansas 8, Oklahoma 8—Total 100.

Eisenhower leading—New York 45, Pennsylvania 32, Maryland 10, Ohio 25, Michigan 20, Wisconsin 12, Minnesota 11, Virginia 12, Montana 4, Wyoming 3, Colorado 6, New Mexico 4—Total 183.

Stevenson leading—Rhode Island 4, Delaware 3, Illinois 27, Florida 10, Louisiana 10, Tennessee 11—Total 65.

Doubtful—Massachusetts 16, Connecticut 8, Iowa 10, Utah 4, Arizona 4, Nevada 3, Texas 24, California 32, Washington 9—Total 110.

PUBLISHER SWITCHES

Ike Now His Choice
Despite Early Wagers

By STUART KEATE
Publisher, Daily Times
SEATTLE, Nov. 3—It's all over but the voting—and your correspondent, ignoring sad lessons of the past, is prepared to make a last-minute switch.

I came down here three days ago convinced that Adlai Stevenson would win—had even waged a few bets to that effect. This opinion was based on the Democrat's firm hold on labor and patronage.

Now I think Ike will make it. In this state at least—a state that gave Truman a 90,000-vote edge in the 1948 election—I sense a swing to Eisenhower.

It has been marked in the past few days. The general is leading in every local poll. Stevenson's Chicago speech is being described as "frivolous, wise-cracking and silly."

It may be that Americans are now getting down to serious thinking about the vote; ignoring the Niagaras of charges and counter-charges, which have inundated the press and air lanes for the past two months.

Out of the welter of propaganda, two facts emerge:

(1) Harry Truman's mudslinging has boomeranged on Stevenson;

(2) Eisenhower scored a major "scoop" when he promised to visit Korea and see what could be done to gain "an early and honorable peace."

At this 11th hour, Americans are asked to choose between

ON THE TIMES

By ART STOTT

The more I read of people who want to make Victoria into the kind of town they think we ought to have, the more I agree with Rebel Mowat. "Reb" likes it here the way it is.

He may go along with suggestions for a few changes. But nobody's going to tell him Victoria has nothing to attract the tourist or satisfy the resident. Me neither.

Stott

"Reb" could cite some pretty fair statistics to support his position. If he asks George Warren for a few figures, George will tell him that Victoria's tourist business, up to the end of the summer holidays, was 10 per cent above last year—even with the adverse U.S. exchange—and that the season just over was the biggest in the city's history.

"Why," says George, "we had 78,000 visitors making inquiries at the Publicity Bureau alone this year."

For some strange reason, tourists like to come to Victoria in spite of what some of the critics say. They don't come to enjoy the atmosphere of Blackpool or Coney Island. They aren't attracted by honky-tonks because there aren't any. They aren't drawn by the gaiety and tinsel glitter of the place. They just come.

But even if their numbers weren't increasing year by year, a lot of residents wouldn't blow a gasket. People who live here would still live here because, with "Reb," they like it. And more and more people would be drifting out from Winnipeg and points east because they've visited Victoria and picked it as the place to settle down.

Whatever It Is

Say it's the climate, if you like. Then check your umbrellas and galoshes for the weeks ahead. Say it's the leisurely pace of life, and then start dodging traffic. Say it's the view of mountains made-in-America. Say it's the soft change of seasons. Go Shakespearean, and say that heaven's breath smells woefully here, and then hold your nose passing the Causeway at low tide.

Say any or all of these things and you'll have an explanation for part of the attraction of Victoria to tourists and settlers. But you won't have it all. There's a certain spirit to the town that's just beyond definition yet seems appealing to the visitor and resident alike. It's an essence that shouldn't invite too much tampering. At least that's the way I think "Reb" feels about it—and if he does, we agree.

Call us complacent. Say we're in a rut, at a dead end, aren't keeping up with the times, don't know how to exploit our assets. Maybe we're vulnerable to all those criticisms. Maybe we like it that way.

Probably our Victoria is a little shaggy. It might do with a trimming—but we don't want any of these amateurs with scissors snipping away at the edges and reducing honest-to-goodness shaginess to the effect of a kitchen haircut. And we don't want to be groomed into a duck-tail coiffure either. We're not zooty.

Why Go Hollywood?

The way some of us old codgers see it, we haven't any desire to go Hollywood, even if we could. And we don't see why Californians should come up here to see a bum imitation of Hollywood if we tried to be one.

We even like to sit occasionally at the seashore and admire the mountains without the mood music of a calypso or the atmosphere of frying hamburgers bringing us up to date. We're inclined to think a lot of other folks feel the same way.

We hope we'll preserve some of our courtesy for visitors and that they, too, will enjoy the things we do. If they don't, we're just selfish enough to point out that they're passing through. We live here.

Tweedsmuir Flooding May Cause Beetle Infestation

Flooding of timber in Tweedsmuir Park, caused by the huge Alcan development, may create a breeding ground for the damaging bark-beetle which attacks weakened timber.

An investigation into the entire situation is now being conducted by the federal forest insect laboratory on behalf of the provincial government.

*Officials fear that the bark-beetles will be attracted to the flood-weakened trees in the park, as they are to timber weakened by other causes.

If this is the case, and the beetle broods are able to survive under such wet conditions, there is a real danger of their eventual spread to the green healthy timber at the perimeter of the flooded area.

Plots have been established in the lodgepole pine-spruce stands on the edge of Ootsa Lake. As the flooding progresses, they will be re-examined periodically.

"It was determined from trap trees felled near the plots that an endemic population of Dendroctonus and Ips beetles is present," an official said. "If these potentially destructive insects increase due to the flooding, they will be capable of causing great damage to the adjacent green timber."

Flyers in First Defeat at Home

After five straight wins on home ice this season, Spokane Flyers were finally beaten in their own rink Sunday night.

Nelson Maple Leafs turned the trick, 2-0, after losing 6-3 to the Spokes Saturday night. It was the first shutout in the Western International Senior Hockey League this season.

In the third week-end game in the W.I.H.L., Kimberley Dynamiters trimmed Trail Smoke Eaters 7-4.

Okanagan League action saw Kelowna Packers defeat Kamloops Elks 5-2 with three goals in the final period and Penticton V's draw 3-3 in overtime with Vernon Canadians.

U.S. Election Summary

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 (AP)—High public office has attracted 1,098 candidates in Tuesday's United States elections. Record registrations and a record high in voting are included in the following story in figures:

Office	Candidates	Seats at Stake
President	9	1
Vice-President	9	1
Senator	96	42
Representative	911	435
Governor	73	30

The above include the Maine state election September 8, when a senator, governor and three representatives, all Republicans, were elected.

Estimated 1952 potential voters (persons 21 and over) 98,377,000. Estimated 1952 eligible voters (registered, etc.) 75,579,785. Estimated 1952 vote (by state officials, others), 55,670,000.

Together with the Democratic and Republican nominees, there are more than nine candidates each for president and vice-president if all splinter-party labels are included. But only seven minor-party tickets have qualified to appear on the ballot in at least one state.

Senate — the 34 seats being filled include two each in Connecticut and Nebraska, the extras being for unexpired terms of deceased senators. Another short term is being filled in Kentucky. The 35 seats now are held by 14 Democrats and 21 Republicans. Seats not affected now are held by 35 Democrats and 26 Republicans. Present line-up is 49 Democrats and 47 Republicans. Necessary for control: 49.

Of the 96 candidates, 31 are Republicans, 34 Democrats and 31 others.

House of Representatives — the 911 candidates for 435 seats (three in Maine already filled) include 354 Republicans, 424 Democrats and 133 others.

Present line-up in House: Democrats 230; Republicans 200, Independents one, vacancies four. Needed to control: 218.

Governor — the 73 candidates for the 30 seats (including Maine) are made up of 29 Republicans, 30 Democrats and 14 others. There now are 25 Republican and 23 Democrat governors. Each party has 15 governorships at stake this year.

'KINDA HATE TO GIVE UP'

Whistle Stops Over for Harry

NEW YORK, Nov. 3 (CP) Win or lose, Harry S. Truman says, he enjoyed the 1952 United States election campaign. He regrets that it's all over for him.

The president who is stepping out of the White House after nearly eight years of war and uneasy peace had almost a choke in his voice Saturday as he made his farewell address of the campaign.

To a rear-platform crowd at Granite City, Ill., he said:

"It is the last time when, as president of the United States, I shall talk to the people in 'whistle stop' crowds like this about the issues of the election."

"I kinda hate to give it up," And win or lose, Harry S. Truman's part in the 1952 campaign, one of the most bitter, hardest fought of the century, will be a factor in its outcome.

In two months he has travelled 18,000 miles in 30 states, making 211 speeches on behalf of Governor Adlai E. Stevenson, chosen by the Democratic party to succeed Truman who chose not to run again.

If Stevenson wins, it will be claimed that Truman's all-out epithet-studded fighting campaign helped to put him in the White House. If he loses, the President will be blamed for tactics that, many say, boomeranged.

He has lit into Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, Republican nominee, and other leaders of the general's party in a fashion seldom seen even in an American election.

But Truman didn't talk of the election today as he went to his home in Independence, Mo., where he will vote Tuesday. His job was done. He had worked harder for Stevenson than he worked for himself in 1948.

Incredibly spry at 68, he steps out of the White House January 20. Then, he has said, he hopes to "see something of the world" he has had such a part in shaping.

With only one day remaining before the day of decision, the presidential candidates rested today. Eisenhower in his New York city home and Stevenson in his old home town of Bloomington, Ill.

Eisenhower will conclude his campaign Monday night with a $250,000 country-wide television-radio broadcast.

Stevenson, in Chicago Saturday night, will conclude his day night, brought his campaign close to home with a prediction of a Democratic victory Tuesday. "There has been an electric feeling of victory in the air all the way home," the governor said. He said that if Eisenhower is elected, the "most reactionary elements" of the Republican Party would run the country.

N.A.T.O. Warships Steam to 'Longstep'

NAPLES, Italy, Nov. 3 (AP) — Transports and warships of six North Atlantic Treaty countries steamed out of western Mediterranean ports today to test their defenses along the vital lifeline from Gibraltar to Turkey.

Simultaneously, "enemy" submarines from Malta spread through the sea in search of convoys. Land-based "enemy" planes also were poised to join in the attack.

It was the start of "Exercise Longstep," the biggest manoeuvres yet held in the southern waters. Before it ends Nov. 13, about 100,000 men, 170 ships and 500 aircraft will participate. They come from the armed forces of Britain, the United States, France, Italy, Turkey and Greece.

The exercise is comparable in scope to "Operation Mainbrace," held in the North Sea in September.

Condensed from CP, AP, and UP Dispatches

MEMORIAL—In Clarendon, Alta., a memorial service was to be held today at the R.C.A.F. station for a French war ace and his Ontario student pilot who were killed near here in a training-flight crash last Thursday. The crash victims were Capt. Henri Lepage of the French Air Force and Flt. Cadet G. B. Jepling of Peterborough, Ont.

RISE—Washington State's 1952 hunting toll rose to 13, Sunday with the death of a Davenport farmer accidentally shot while after deer in northern Spokane County.

The total includes seven hunters who died of heart attacks. Dean D. McLean, 36, was the latest casualty. He died a few minutes after being struck by a bullet from a rifle fired by his brother, Wayne, of Spokane.

PRECIOUS—The precious whooper crane found near Weyburn, Sask., and one of 31 left in North America, was flown to Texas, Sunday, in a special plane. The plane was sent by Dr. Clarence Cottam, director of the United States Fish and Wildlife Service in Washington.

Saskatchewan naturalists believe the bird was shot by a hunter, and has issued a plea to all hunters to become familiar with the species which is fast becoming extinct.

DIED—Eli Howlett, 73, Vancouver, died in the General Hospital Sunday from injuries received in a traffic mishap last Friday.

His death raised the city's 1952 traffic fatality toll to 24.

BB-R-R—The first snow of winter were starting to fly in Northern British Columbia today. The weather station at Quesnel reported an inch on the ground, with similar amounts recorded at Prince George and Smithers.

BENEVOLENT—The Royal Canadian Air Force Benevolent Fund has paid out $3,000,000 to 29,000 airmen and their families since 1944.

This figure was quoted Saturday in Regina to a meeting of the fund officials. Representatives from Swift Current, Moose Jaw, Weyburn and Regina attended.

Air Commodore D. E. Mackell, manager of the fund, told the meeting that the fund's capital today is $3,720,000.

BALKED—Man can produce rain, snow and even clouds by seeding supercooled atmosphere, but he cannot yet break wide-spread droughts, weather experts say.

Researchers said Sunday, in an article in the November issue of the General Electric Review, Schenectady, N.Y., that many complex weather phenomena not yet understood fully have barred man's attempts to bring rain to drought-stricken areas. The authors said, however, that pioneer work in weather modification had proved that rain, snow and clouds could be produced by artificial seeding of supercooled atmosphere with dry ice and silver iodide.

City Police Chief Takes Issue With Charges Made Before Court

Victoria Police Chief John Blackstock today took issue with statements made in Supreme Court at Vancouver last week by Lloyd Charles Ritter of Prince Rupert.

Ritter is suing Dueck Chevrolet, Olds Ltd., a Vancouver auto firm, for alleged malicious prosecution. In presenting his case, he complained about treatment received at the hands of city police in Victoria.

He was arrested here in May, 1951, on two charges of passing cheques without sufficient funds to cover them. He complains now that he was "thrown in with drug addicts and drunks" by the arresting officers.

Chief Blackstock today checked records of those in custody at the time Ritter was held here. He said there definitely were no persons charged with any drug offence.

He conceded there were some awaiting trial for drunkenness but maintained Ritter would not have been in the company of any who were "under the influence."

DRUNKS IN TANK

Drunks, when arrested, are housed in a large cell commonly referred to as "the drunk tank" until such time as they become sober.

Only then are they allowed to mingle with the other prisoners. Though the jail has some small cells for accommodating single prisoners, the chief explained these are only used for persons considered dangerous.

"The others don't like to be put by themselves," he said. "They'd rather have company." Ritter is seeking $31,000 damages from the Vancouver auto company on grounds that he was in custody 11 days; that he was subjected to many indignities; that he lost work and that the charges caused permanent difficulties between himself and his wife's family.

NO CONVICTION

Ritter was not convicted of either charge. One was dismissed and the other withdrawn.

Mr. Justice Whittaker regarded as serious a charge by Ritter that at Oakalla he was ordered to take off his clothes and submit to a search for drugs.

"If this is so, there should be some investigation made," the judge remarked.

Victoria lawyer P. J. Sinnott is solicitor for Ritter.

Long-Time Sooke Resident Dead

Mrs. Emma Jane Mugford, 81, widow of the late Robert John Mugford and well-known resident of Sooke for the past 56 years, died in Victoria Sunday.

She was born in Battle Harbor, Newfoundland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Bradley.

Surviving are a son, Bert; three grandchildren and one great-granddaughter, and three sisters, Mrs. Isabella Horne, Victoria; Mrs. Fay Anderson, Vancouver, and Mrs. Betty Harold, Los Angeles.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday at 3.15 p.m. at Knox Presbyterian Church, Sooke. McCall Bros. have charge of arrangements.

September C.O.L. Index Will Show 'Sharp Drop'

OTTAWA, Nov. 3 (CP)—Within the next few days two yardsticks measuring September's living costs will be issued simultaneously. At least one is expected to show a sharp drop.

They are the new consumer price index, measuring prices changes since 1949, and the old cost-of-living index, showing changes since 1935-39. The new C.P.I. is the official index, but both will be issued simultaneously for the next six months before the old one is dropped.

Trade Minister Howe, in a recent Toronto speech, forecast a "sharp drop" in September's cost-of-living index, but made no mention of what will happen in the new.

Who Controls Money?

IT IS POINTED OUT ON BEHALF of the British Columbia government that it does not propose to establish Social Credit within this province, that its larger plans of monetary reform must await the erection of a Social Credit government in Ottawa.

That is obvious since provincial governments quite properly have no control over the money system. But the Social Credit movement in British Columbia is not an isolated phenomenon. It is closely allied in ideology and in political organization with the same movement in Alberta. Moreover, it is involved in a much larger plan to capture the Conservative party throughout the west and eventually to capture the federal government.

For this reason it is useless to say that the Social Credit theory in the B.C. government is not worth considering, that it is quite harmless because nobody seriously intends to implement it.

When Mr. Eric Martin, for example, outlines his plans for a new kind of Canadian society and regards the Canadian government as the stooge of international bankers, with their origins in Russia, Mr. Bennett cannot escape responsibility for such utterances merely by saying that they are outside his field of jurisdiction. In fact, they represent the real purposes of Social Credit of which the B.C. government is an essential part.

Without going into Mr. Martin's theories again, it will be seen that they are based on a premise factually false. The starting point of the whole argument is that the people of Canada, through their government, do not control the money system. Some private bankers no doubt would like to think that, too, but they know better.

Through the Bank of Canada the government creates new money and diminishes it at will. To pay for the recent war it created a gigantic new supply of money out of thin air and it was this excessive supply—temporarily dammed up by wartime price control, rationing and other regulation—which flowed into the postwar market and raised all prices by inevitable inflation. The same thing happened in most other countries.

While Social Credit insists that there still is not enough money in circulation, when obviously there has been too much, it cannot argue that the state does not possess the power to govern the total supply. That power was assured by the state when the Bank of Canada was nationalized by the Mackenzie King government.

Even if this is admitted, however, Social Credit seems to think that the government has no real interest in the money supply. That is equally untrue. In an interview with the financial editor of this newspaper recently Mr. Bennett spoke of the necessity of equating the money supply with the actual supply of goods as if this were entirely a new idea, unique to Social Credit. It is, of course, nothing of the sort.

If Mr. Bennett has just discovered the economic theories of the late Lord Keynes there is an evident time lag in his knowledge. The Keynesian theory of counteracting the old business cycle by expanding the money supply in bad times of deflation and contracting it in times of inflation has long been accepted by most governments, certainly by the American and Canadian governments.

If Mr. Bennett and his colleagues will read the famous Canadian White Paper issued in the spring of 1945 they will see that the Canadian government is fully committed to that policy.

The Canadian government, like every government in the world, misjudged the economic climate of the immediate post-war years. It expected a depression and was ready to counter it by increasing the public purchasing power. Instead, it soon faced an inflation which few economists had expected.

That is the great danger of the Keynesian theory—governments may turn the tide of money in the wrong direction, as they did after the war. When the Canadian government decides, rather late in the day, to hold down an excessive money supply, when it handles the problem of inflation more successfully than any other government, it is attacked by Social Credit for doing what it should have done.

There are other fallacies in the Social Credit theory which can be discussed at another time but the first point to understand is that money, for better or worse, no longer is the exclusive preserve of the private financier. It is the largest and most vital business of government and government will continue to manage it, wisely or unwisely.

New Atom . . . Old Adam

THE SMALLER COUNTRIES OF Europe, in the shadow of the vast wealth of such powers as Britain, Russia and the United States, are beginning to wonder where they will stand in the atomic age. They have been warned by Dr. Gunnar Randers, director of the Norwegian-Dutch Institute of Nuclear Research, that "in a few years a country which has no atomic energy will be like one today which has no electricity."

Whether or not one wishes to go as far in prediction as the European expert, there can be no doubt that the impact of atomic energy on industry in the years to come will be as shaking as its advent in the field of war.

Already Britain is experimenting with atomic piles to provide electrical power. Canada, too, is investigating the same sort of project. The United States is well advanced on plans to install an atom-powered engine in a submarine.

These developments are promising. But they can convey no more of the real atomic age than the first attempts to produce automobiles could reveal the immense revolution to be achieved by the internal combustion engine.

It would be a mistake, of course, to assume that the advent of atomic power will change everything as we know it. The major structure of our industrial life no doubt will endure. But atomic power cheaply produced—and Dr. Randers says that the higher initial cost will be offset by cheaper operation—can be applied more closely to the point at which it is needed than other forms of power.

First Step in Liquor Reform

AS A MOVE TOWARD BREAKING the monopoly which has controlled the manufacture and distribution of alcoholic beverages in British Columbia, the Bennett government's decision to grant licenses for two new wineries merits commendation.

It is to be hoped this will be but the first step in reforming the liquor situation under study by the Stevens commission.

But while the government has rightly allowed those who want to make wine to make it, nothing has yet been done to permit the importation of California and other wines now kept out of the province.

If the public is entitled to the benefits of competition between makers of domestic wines, it is surely also entitled to the benefits of the broader competition offered by manufacturers of inexpensive wines in other countries.

Those wines have been barred by British Columbia for one reason only—to protect local industry.

Exclusion of California wines and other U.S. products is, as the United States has pointed out, a violation of existing trade agreements. The federal government appreciates that fact but is powerless to remedy the situation because control over all liquor sale is exercised by the provinces.

Having made one good move by granting new winery licenses, the Bennett government should go further and rectify the other abuse. It is to be hoped the commission, which has already heard submissions on the subject, will cover that point in its report—recommending abolition of exclusion practices which clearly contravene Canadian-U.S. trading agreements.

Even if the commission does not take that course, the government cannot escape responsibility for the existing embargo. If, as can be foreseen, the United States retaliates by refusing to buy Canadian liquors, the fault will rest with the special interest groups responsible for the present practice. They should understand the obvious results of a United States blockade applied to Canadian beverages, now sold extensively in the United States.

The issue is one which deserves Mr. Bennett's immediate attention, not to encourage the consumption of liquor or wines, but to give those people who are going to drink the right to choose what they will drink.

Chips

By DAVE BROCK

WELL, chips, I trust your Halloween passed off as abominably as is consistent with Public Safety. Or A-bomb-inably. (Sorry.) I was able to stop a certain amount of bombing in my own neighborhood. Owing to a reliable tip-off from a juvenile informer, I found some kids making devilish bombs out of certain materials found in every home. I'll not go into details, because some other kids will read this and start experimenting on their own. I'll just say that if a kid was fast on his feet, he could often get behind a big rock, if there was any rock, before nasty hunks of steel began flying through the air at great speed. So it was quite safe, they told me. Nobody had even got a piece of steel in his eye yet.

How crazy can kids get? I don't know. I knew a kid who shot a steel-tipped arrow into the air once, and stood under it to see if it would kill him. Another kid spilt things by kicking him out of the way. This same scientific child was fascinated by the huge avalanches of snow that crashed off the slate roof of the church. He stood under the eaves to see if he could get killed that way too. But somebody was passing at the time, and dug him out, which invalidated the experiment. Though it did prove his neck was hard to break it, hadn't a chance to deal with smothering.

WATCH THEM GRAMMAR

A nine-year-old girl has come home to complain that her teacher is both an optimist and a freak. This teacher is actually trying to correct the grammar and prose style of her pupils. Never heard the like. Instead of saying, "My mother, she done it," the children are asked to say "My mother did it," and so on. The teacher is especially offended by the meaningless use of "these" and "this" in narrative. "Well, this man got in this car with these children and they came to this house and saw this lady on this porch with this parcel," etc.

Speaking of which, I was listening to another little girl tell me an interminable story about nothing very much. It would have been quite dull enough without "these" and "this," but she kept inserting them anyway. Finally, when she said "Well, there were these three trains, see," I was rude enough to ask her to cease and desist. "For the love of Pete, honey," says I, "stop saying 'these trains'." "O.K.," she said agreeably. "Well, there was them three trains, see, and . . ."

STOP SIZING ME UP, BOYS

I have before me an advertisement from the circulation manager of a well-known magazine. He has got my name from a secret source, he says. So he knows I'm not just any old average citizen. Not me. No, I'm thoughtful. Yep, I am also mentally active (as distinguished from thoughtful, this is rather good. . . I know lots of girls and several men who are mentally active with scarcely a thought per day). Readers of this magazine are carefully selected, it seems. "Only those people whose past reading habits, status in the community, or known achievements rank them as intelligent thinkers, are potential readers" of the magazine. "They are the very people who most need and want it to round out their thinking, and to supply them with high-grade literary relaxation."

As nearly as I can translate this, it means I am simply wonderful and will soon be too big for my boots. I have been proposed to the Appointment Committee and have been accepted. My past reading habits are known. My status in the community is perfect. I am an intelligent thinker. And because I'm so good and so self-sufficient, I am in desperate need of outside help. (How's that again, please?) My thinking is absolutely first-class, but it must be too square, because it needs rounding. It is active, but it needs relaxing. (Why?)

Other parts of the letter are less complimentary. I'm afraid. Unless I read the magazine, I won't be able to "think and talk intelligently on the current topics which well-informed people everywhere discuss." The heck I won't. The heck they do.

What hurt me worst was the statement that I am not "literary," but I like good reading. . . . I am literary as anything. Never a day passes without my being accused of being bookish. . . . it is my status in the community, dammit. Yes, and I am not only literary, but I hate quite a lot of good reading. I wish this man would stop trying to size me up. He doesn't know anything about me. He doesn't even know that my family and myself took his journal for about 40 years, before I quit in despair last year. He doesn't know I've had a dozen small contributions in his blinking magazine myself. . . . without my learning a thing from them, either!

MARKED for READING

NOT INTERESTED
I would shoot myself if nominated. For the last time I am not going to run for the Democratic presidential nomination. I am not interested in the job.
—Adlai Stevenson, July 13, 1932.

CONSTANT STRUGGLE
Peace is not merely the absence of war; it is a condition for which a constant struggle must be maintained. . . . There is no ground for discouragement and there is no reason for retreat. We are doing what we set out to do, and so far, we are succeeding in our purpose.
—Defense Minister Brooke Claxton in Current Affairs

GOLD FROM THE U.S.
"If the rest of the world is to be in a position to meet the inevitable fluctuations of international trading conditions without having to impose drastic restrictions, it must build up its gold and dollar reserves. This means that ideally there should be some outflow of gold from the U.S. for some years—in other words, that the export of capital together with U.S. government grants and loans should exceed the trading surplus."
—Hugh O'Connell, former Chancellor of the Exchequer in The Rotarian.

Living Next Door to a Volcano

As Our Readers See It

HIDDEN LIFE

We are all conscious of living in this world even at our best. Far below our best we are conscious, too, of possibilities of character hidden within us undeveloped and powers of helpfulness in our life which we have barely begun to exercise, but which might be drawn out into activity.

We see hints and glimmers and we have glimpses now and then of a far more glorious life than we have yet reached. The peace, joy, love, unselfishness, service, purity, holiness reached in this life are only dim intimations of what we may become.

TOM CLARK.

Royal Oak, B.C.

MARTINIAN ECONOMICS

Having read with great interest, and full agreement with its sentiments, the report of the speech of Hon. Eric Martin, health and welfare minister, to the Society of Industrial and Cost Accountants of B.C., may I be permitted to offer to the minister most sincere gratitude and appreciation from this one humble member of the general public, and that quite irrespective of party or politics in neither of which I take any interest.

The truth is out at long last; the banks control everything. In this day and age and under present economic systems the world over, what else does anyone expect? Although all must be camouflaged and overlaid with hypocrisy by the vast majority, both of governments and officials, to throw dust in the eyes of the populace.

So it is, and so it will be, during present worship of the golden calf, but we are at the end of the age perhaps sooner than is imagined, true Christianity, not mere profession, will prevail.

MRS. S. C. BEESON.

Duncan, B.C.

DEBATING OPPONENT

If Mr. Fyfe will indicate the Bible passages containing "some of the stuff that would land a publisher in prison" I don't think he will lack a debating opponent. I suggest that those perverted minds he alludes to are to be found in vastly greater number in the ranks of those whose thinking is akin to his own.

From personal knowledge I cannot speak too highly of Mr. Abraham as a Christian gentleman—a man of wisdom born of Bible study and long experience in the practical business world. In the matter of the literature in question I think his judgment eminently sound.

As for that "unscientific nonsense" Mr. Fyfe rants about. What pathetic ignorance! Job and the savants of ancient times were about 3,000 years ahead of modern scientists in many things. Will he take the trouble to read Times letters dated September 29 and October 7 and 11 concerning the Bible and science.

Answering Critics of the Jury Show

In publishing the letter of Mr. Charles E. Barker on October 29 you offered an opportunity to clarify the real nucleus of the controversy over the Jury Show at the Arts Centre by presenting an example therewith of the whole problem confronting the creative artist today, especially if he is also an instructor.

Mr. Barker's letter is no less than a compilation of the sheer mediocrity and ignorance which has been a drag on progress since time immemorial. This man knows nothing of creative art. He knows nothing of education. It is one of the crimes of civilization that the instructor imposes his convictions and his tastes, even accompanied by a threat, upon the hapless pupil, in this case upon the hapless public.

It is unfortunately true that Mr. Barker can call upon cohorts who will staunchly support his views. What courage he has to blast Mr. West's "Ten Mile Point!" In suggesting that funds be withheld from the Gallery for such acquisitions Mr. Barker hopes that the public will forever be saved from learning anything of the culture of today. The public must never think for itself or see through its feelings. If they did there would be no Barkerism.

Just as the scientist pits his faith in research against the disease cancer, so must the creative artist fight untiringly against Barkerism.

JAN ZACH.

DEVELOPMENT LAGGING

It seems a pity that Victoria's progress in music appreciation over the last few years has not been matched by a similar development in matters of art, particularly on the part of those fortunate enough to be able to practice it. The provincialism, if not parochialism, of the attitudes displayed by critics of the recent Jury exhibit is incredible even to a native Victorian like myself. One could hardly find a better proof of the need for the Gallery, and I for one hope that future juries will continue to seek out people with fresh vision and talent.

What did Emily Carr ever get from local groups but discouragement?

I cannot understand why any person seriously concerned with art should be disturbed by the subject-matter or the techniques of the recent exhibit. Although seemingly new to some Victorians in 1932, they have been commonplaces in France for nearly a hundred years, and in many other countries for the last fifty.

Perhaps the critics of the Gallery might have a "Salon des Refuses" where only exponents of the "traditional" point of view (actually a fairly recent one in the history of art) might exhibit what the jury refuses to hang.

Juggling Figures For a Winner

By STEWART ALSOP

From Eisenhower Headquarters, New York

GENERAL EISENHOWER'S gleamingly efficient political headquarters, in the Commodore Hotel here, are haunted. The ghost of Thomas E. Dewey's defeat in 1948 almost visibly stalks the corridors, and almost audibly rattles its chains whenever the Eisenhower managers feel tempted to express the confidence which all sorts of facts would seem to justify.

The result is a curious mood of repressed elation combined with an undercurrent of nervousness. Talking with the Eisenhower managers, one senses a conscious and deliberate effort to avoid such phrases as "in the bag" or "all over but the shouting." Yet it is perfectly obvious that such phrases would be heard on all sides, among reporters as well as Eisenhower aides, if it were not for the haunting memory of 1948.

In the first place, as all the Eisenhower aides point out in a sort of chorus, there is one big difference between this campaign and the previous dreary succession of Republican defeats. The Republican party is solidly behind its candidate, which was notably not the case in 1948—or 1944 or 1940, for that matter.

Well heeled, tough Republican organizations in every state are now working all out for Eisenhower. The Eisenhower managers agree that the general has paid a price for this Republican unity, in the shape of concessions to the Republican right wing which have undoubtedly cost votes.

To prove that the price has not been too high, they point to the public polls; to the polls taken by their own private organization in Princeton, N.J.; to reports coming from local Republican leaders in many key states, and to the geographical distribution of registration figures.

All these indices, the Eisenhower managers admit, tell a story which is "too good to be true." They laugh it off, for example, when their private poll shows a heavy lead for Eisenhower in a state like Alabama.

But, they say—again with that undercurrent of nervousness—that the polls "just can't be that wrong." And, they argue, there is no real evidence at all of the last-minute swing to Adlai Stevenson which they admittedly feared a few weeks ago. Eisenhower may have lost a percentage point here and there, they agree, but his lead is so great that he can easily afford it.

STAKING CLAIMS

The Eisenhower managers claim—with every show of confidence—the whole Middle West outside the border states, excepting perhaps Minnesota, but very probably including Stevenson's native Illinois.

They claim Pennsylvania and all New England, except Rhode Island and possibly Massachusetts. They claim the whole northwest with the exception of Washington. They assert that they have an excellent chance for added glory from the border and southern states—notably Virginia. Finally—but here the nervousness begins to show through a bit—they claim the two biggest states, California and New York.

Both Gov. Earl Warren and Sen. William Knowland of California have flatly assured the Eisenhower managers that California will go Republican. But the nervousness in this regard, showed through when a special flying trip to California by Gen. Eisenhower was briefly considered last week, and only reluctantly abandoned.

Meanwhile, the slyly elusive figure, the American voter, is preparing to demonstrate whether Eisenhower's calm confidence or the faint uneasiness of his aides is justified. The voter cannot register his verdict any too soon for the tired men here in Eisenhower headquarters—or, one suspects, for any one else in the country.

Ups and Downs

By BRIAN TOBIN

THE old copy books," said the Elevator Man, "were great advocates of thoroughness. Things worth doing are worth doing well," they used to tell you, "take care" and "take pains" and a dozen other things. They gave the impression that the only way to become healthy, wealthy and wise was to be thorough—and maybe they were right. But maybe they weren't. It seems to me that what you're being thorough about is even more important than how thorough you are. Bob Cratchit, in Dickens' Christmas Carol, was about as thorough a fellow as you could wish to meet. He spent his life copying figures into ledgers for just enough to keep alive on. He was thorough about the little things but he thoroughly missed the big ones. I don't mean in a spiritual sense. He taught Scrooge a few points. But it is wise to be so thorough about the pennies that you never get around to the dollars? Thoroughness could become an excuse for concentrating on something unimportant because you couldn't think of anything important to do. Apple-polishers are thorough, but where does it get them? Mezzanine!

"The objective," said the Elevator Man, "counts. Take those youngsters in that little New York town the other night. They put a pigeon in every mail box in the community, and the birds whirled out as soon as the postman came round. That's thoroughness, for you. Not a box was missed. But was it good? Lower main!

"Some folks," said the Elevator Man, "don't demand much thoroughness. They're easily satisfied. Like that girl who told her suitor he couldn't marry her until he'd saved a few thousand dollars. He went off, apparently determined to succeed. Some time later she met him and asked how much he'd saved up. 'Thirty-five dollars,' he told her. 'Well,' says the girl, blushing a little, 'I guess that's near enough.'"

THE CAINE MUTINY

SYNOPSIS

Ensign Willie Keith faced a Caine he had arrived at Honolulu to find her gone and had been reported to the officer pool on coding duty, a circumstance he owed to his prowess as an entertainer at the piano with which he had amused an admiral.

He opens a letter his father had handed to him before he left New York with instructions not to open it until he was on board the Caine. Willie opened the letter, since apparently he was permanent placed at Honolulu, and was horrified to read his father's dying message. A cable home confirmed his father's death three days earlier.

Shocked, Willie asked to be posted aboard the Caine, and after some weeks he realized his ambition, only to find the ship a slowly moving for critical officers and a crew which appeared to have lost all sense of discipline and traditional duty.

Another day aboard ship sees Willie build up an intense hatred for Capt. De Vries and arrive at a decision to never rest until he had gotten himself off the Caine. At sea Willie sees the Caine in action for the first time as a mine-sweeper on a practice run. He is greatly surprised to learn that De Vries is to be relieved as captain of the Caine.

(Failure to decide an action dispatch limit of the ship for three days.) Fourteenth installment from the book THE CAINE MUTINY, copyright, 1951, by Herman Wouk. Distributed by Doubleday Syndicate.

De Vries regarded his successor narrowly. "Were you exec on this Bristol-class destroyer?"

"Well, just a month or so. Had almost every other department—it was the Falk—guns, hull, black gang, communications—I was just breaking in as an exec when they yanked me over to a carrier."

"Skipper give you the conn much?"

"Well, there wasn't much chance. A few times."

De Vries offered Queeg a cigarette and lit one himself. "If you like," he said carelessly, waving out the match, "we can take her out for a couple of runs before you take over. I can stand by while you shoot a few approaches, and getting away from alongside, and maybe some power turns and so forth."

"Thanks, that won't be necessary."

De Vries puffed twice on his cigarette in silence. "Well," he said, "I'm at your service. How do you want to go about this?"

"I thought maybe I'd relieve tomorrow," said Queeg. "If I could see the registered pubs and the reports today."

De Vries was pleased and startled. He had relieved his own commanding officer on the Caine in forty-eight hours; but, as executive officer, he had been fully familiar with the ship as the captain.

Queeg was stepping into a vessel of a new type, about which he knew almost nothing. De Vries rose. "Good enough," he said. "Pretty nice to think of seeing my wife in three days. How about a quick Cook's tour of the ship?"

"Okay," Queeg dropped the steel balls into his pocket.

"If I'd known you were coming," said De Vries, "I'd have run off a captain's inspection and shined her up for you a bit. The boys can do a good job, though you may not think so to look at her now."

"Pretty cool for Hawaii, this time of year," said Queeg.

When Willie Keith was summoned to the wardroom, he found the two commanding officers drinking coffee at the green-covered table: De Vries with sardonic formality, "Lieutenant Commander Queeg."

The new captain rose and greeted Willie with a firm handshake and a friendly smile. In one anxious glance Willie took in these details: A small man, slightly shorter than himself; natty blues with two campaign ribbons and one battle star; an oval, somewhat plump fair face with small narrowed eyes; and some strands of sandy hair across an almost bald head, with thicker fringes at the sides. "Hello, Mr. Keith," said Queeg with cordial good humor, and a gay lift in the tones.

Willie liked him at once. "How do you do, sir?"

"Willie," said De Vries, "are you all set to run off a registered pubs inventory, and a transfer report? Commander Queeg waits 'em this afternoon."

"Certainly, sir."

"Not missing anything, are we?"

"No, sir," Willie allowed himself a slight contemptuous emphasis. With the new captain present power seemed to be draining out of De Vries.

Next morning at eleven the crew lined up at quarters on the forecabin, and the ceremony of transferring command was enacted in a perfunctory way. The officers had tried very hard to make the crew look respectable for the occasion; but despite the shoeshines and new dungarees and shaved faces the general effect was that of a group of tramps freshly deloused by the Salvation Army.

After the ceremony the two commanding officers went below to the captain's cabin, where De Vries turned over a number of tagged keys and safe combinations to Queeg.

"Well—I'm off," De Vries cocked his head and looked his successor in the eye. Queeg met the glance for a moment, then offered his hand to De Vries.

"Best of luck with your new construction."

"Thank you, sir," said De Vries, and he turned away.

"Well, I'm off," De Vries cocked his head and looked his successor in the eye. Queeg met the glance for a moment, then offered his hand to De Vries.

"Best of luck with your new construction."

"If I get it. You've got a good ship here. Queeg, and a good crew."

"I hope I'm up to handling it. Well, thanks for the dope, is the gig standing by for you?"

"I just ordered it," De Vries ground out his cigar, and opened the door. "Whittaker! How about bearing a hand with my gear?"

Willie was at the gangway bucking on his gun belt, when two steward's mates came up with the bags. De Vries followed and then put his foot up on a life line, staring out over the harbor. He looked strangely impressive in dress blues. Sailors chipping paint on the quarterdeck threw curious glances at him and exchanged low remarks. Willie, oppressed by a heavy gap of embarrassment between himself and his ex-captain, felt obliged to make conversation. "How does it feel, sir?"

"How does what feel?" said De Vries, not looking at him.

"Well, leaving the ship after—how long—over five years, isn't it?"

De Vries bent his head sideways and inspected Willie coldly. "Happiest damn moment of my life," he growled.

"I hope you get a good ship, sir."

"It's about time I had one," De Vries walked away. He paced aft to the fantail, looking down at his shoes.

Then the dingy of a bell and the asthmatic cough of a motor announced that the gig was coming alongside. "Somebody toss down my gear," grunted De Vries.

He began to descend the ladder, and went out of sight. Then his head and arms reappeared. He looked up at the sailors and threw them a salute. "Thanks," he said, and dropped down into the gig.

Tito Says Russia Promoting Third War

By ALEX SINGLETON

ZAGREB, Yugoslavia, Nov. 3 (AP)—Marshal Tito accused the Soviet Union today of promoting a third world war and pledged Yugoslavia's union with the West in preserving peace.

He laid before the sixth congress of the Yugoslav Communist Party a 40,000-word review of his struggle to maintain his country's freedom against heavy military and economic odds since he broke with the Kremlin-led Cominform in 1948.

Tito addressed the 2,300 delegates as boss and secretary-general of this country's minority but ruling Red party. The congress represents 779,382 members drawn from Yugoslavia's 16,500,000 people.

Opening the congress, Sunday, his appearance touched off a five-minute ovation in which the party faithful shouted "Hero-Tito" repeatedly.

His speech today was one of cautious optimism, but he warned his party that "there is less and less prospect of finding a reasonable solution for burning international questions." Although the chance of war is "somewhat less immediate today," he added, "it is nevertheless in its latent form increasingly fraught with elements of that danger."

Tito cautioned that Russia "is arming itself and its satellites in order to achieve its aims by force: to hold enslaved countries in subjugation, to seize new territories and enslave other peoples."

Turning toward Yugoslavia's relations with the West, Tito said co-existence is not only possible between Communist and capitalist countries, but that experience has shown in concrete ways that such co-operation may prove mutually useful.

He expressed Yugoslavia's appreciation for western aid in time of need but made plain his opinion it was extended chiefly as a matter of self-protection for the West.

As a matter of self-protection for the West.

As a matter of self-protection for the West.

Cadets In Grid Final

Defeat Vamps to Eliminate Navy

Royal Roads 12, Vampires 9

Two superb football teams collided head-on with a shattering crash at Heywood Avenue Saturday and when the wreckage had been cleared the most seriously injured people were a small cluster of spectators who left the game with heavy hearts.

When Royal Roads edged Vampires 12-9 in a tremendously exciting and systematic game from the sidelines, it meant the end of the season.

The Royal Roads victory gave them undisputed possession of second place and a spot in the playoffs with Vampires. Had the cadets lost, they would have met the sailors in a one-game playoff. But it was not to be and the sailors will have to wait until next year.

TWO GAME PLAYOFF

Meanwhile, cadets and Vampires will meet in a two-game total-point series for the city championship, the first game scheduled for Armistice Day and the second the following Saturday, November 15.

Vampires took less than five minutes to hit the gold trail. Royal Roads took the kick-off and started a systematic march to the Vampires end zone. They went 45 yards before bogging down and were forced to kick.

On Vampires' fifth play, Pete Ash took a pitchout and streaked from his own 37 for a touch-down. Ken Higgins, playing his first game of the season for Vampires, together with Bud French and Joe Fry, missed the convert.

Bob Copeman added a single point on a kick to deadline at nine minutes and then Royal Roads started to roll.

Quarterback Scotty Price hit Cadet White with a 30-yard pass and White was pulled down on the five. Ross Raymond tried two plunges but was stopped cold. On the third try he went head-first over the piled-up lines to score, and Price converted to tie the score at 6-6.

LONG RUN

In the second quarter, Raymond found a hole over left tackle and picked his way through 48 yards of Vampire strewn-territory before he was stopped eight yards short of a major. Steve Oaks cannoned over for the touchdown on the next play and Price's conversion made it 12-6 for the cadets.

Shortly before the half Copeman's second single cut the deficit to 12-7.

In the third-quarter, Vampires had great chances but got only one point on a single by Higgins. On one occasion they had a first down on the cadet 12 but lost the ball on downs.

Vampires carried the offensive in the last quarter but could not sustain it, losing the ball on downs when in scoring distance. A missed field goal by Higgins gave them their last point.

FUTURITY WINNER

BALTIMORE, Nov. 3 (AP).—While three leaders were crowding and bumping each other in the last 70 yards, Brookfield Farm's Isasmoothie ran smoothly around them to win the Pimlico Futurity and $59,410 Saturday.

Tillicums Whip College, Tie Combines for Lead

Tillicums Athletic Club moved into a first-place tie with Combines in the junior division of the Lower Island Junior and Juvenile Football Association Sunday as they whipped a winless Victoria College Vikings 5-0.

Singlesmen by Bill Abbott and Bob Mars gave the clubmen a 2-0 lead at half time. Then Lyle Hollingsworth, George Wright and Chummy Crabbe scored, giving Tillicums a 5-0 lead going into the final minutes. Jerry Webster ruined the shutout bid.

Combines trounced Punjab United 10-2 in a junior exhibition game. Jack Bevans and Graig Massey opened the scoring in the first half for Combines while Shidhava Singh notched one for Punjab United. The second half blew wide open with Tom Rimmer and Jack Massey adding a pair each while Darl Burley, Ken Barnes and Jack Bevans scored singlesmen. Himmat Singh scored Punjab's second goal.

Fred Curtis and Gordon Sillars of Eagles teamed up to beat Sid-

Cadets Squelch Vampire Thrust

Royal Roads' bruising line got its severest test Saturday and came through with flying colors as Royal Roads took a hard-fought 12-9 decision from Vampires at Heywood Avenue. By their victory, cadets gained a spot in the playoffs and will meet Vampires in a two-game series for the Victoria Junior Canadian Football League championship. Here Pete Ash, fleet Vampire halfback, is brought down at the line of scrimmage as he tried to come over tackle. Cadets watching the play are Johnston (31), Wallace (36) and Raymeht (37). Referee in the background is Johnny Bing.

J.B.A.A. Rugby Leaders

Pace Both City Leagues

J.B.A.A. engineered a stranglehold on both divisions in the Victoria Rugby Union League Saturday when they downed makeshift teams troubled with injuries and player shortages.

The Oarsmen captured the first-division leadership by handing the former top-place Wanderers their second straight 8-3 setback in a contest that saw the losers without the services of five of their best men.

The Bays' second-division squad downed a fighting but inexperienced College team 12-9 to take over top spot in that league.

In the other first-division contest Victoria College garnered their first points of the season by tying the defending champion Crusaders 3-3 in the lowest scoring game of the season.

The hard luck Wanderers were without Ralph McLean and Tommy McIlveen, who have left the city, and playing coach Dick Ellis and Jim Mills who are sidelined with injuries. Lorne Prevost was carried off the field early in the game with a dislocated elbow.

SHIELDS SCORES

Midway through the first half J.B.A.A.'s tremendous forward play was rewarded when Jack Shields fell on a rolling ball in Oak Bay's end zone after a long kick. Gary Pynn converted to give the winners a 5-0 half-time lead. Momentary hope for Wanderers came early in the second frame when Paul Beck narrowed the count with a penalty kick.

Ian Young, the best in an outstanding scrum, regained the points later when he fell on the ball after a five-yard line out. Pynn's convert attempt went wide.

On the upper field at Macdonald Park, Crusaders edged up on shipping Wanderers, but failed to tie them, when a spirited and stubborn College XV held off repeated second-half drives for a well-earned point in the standings.

Standoff Ray Calton started the play that opened the scoring when the game was hardly a minute old. Calton raced some 50 yards and passed to Art Hicks who scored.

Outstanding forward work by the young student scrum was climaxed early in the final half when they dribbled the ball the whole length of the field and into the Crusader end zone where Jack Ward fell on it to knot the score.

SECOND STRAIGHT VICTORY
In second division play the short-handed Bays won their second straight game when they downed College on a first half try by John Skilling and three second-half scores, two by Ron Hughes and one by Tony Nicholson. All of Skilling's convert attempts went wide.

College's scrum half, Ted Johnston, matched each of the Bays' second-half scores with 50-yard runs to account for nine points.

In the other second division contest the Crusader-Wanderer team again had 33 points scored against them in a losing effort but this time they managed to reply with 25 points against an energetic Shawnigan Lake entry.

Francois was easily the outstanding Shawnigan player while Dave McKenzie crossed the line three times for the losers and converted all their five tries.

BLANK SHORES; ROYALS WIN

United Sticks Close to Pace

United 3, North Shore 0
Royals 3, Vancouver City 2

Victoria United saved their biggest Halloween fire-cracker for Saturday in Coast Soccer League action.

Given no more than an even chance against North Shore at Vancouver's Callister Park with their coach and scoring ace Wally Milligan on the sidelines, United exploded the season's surprise, blanking the Shores, 3-0.

And they did it without the second half services of John Pickburn, who re-injured his gimpy knee.

The victory which followed a scoreless tie against the Shores at Victoria, and a 3-1 loss to New Westminster Royals, also in Victoria, was surprising in view of the decisive margin.

And it was big Bill McAllister who made it so.

The rotund goalie was spectacular in the nets, taking a personal delight in beating Fred Whittaker time and time again, once grabbing the ball off Whittaker's toe when a goal appeared imminent.

Ten minutes into the second half, United struck for the first time, right winger Tim Walker taking inside right Murray Speller's pass and converting it to break the scoreless tie which had existed.

Centre forward Cedric Robb made the score 2-0 with five minutes later a solo dash down the middle after accepting Joe Robbins' long clearance from a North Shore offensive which caught the defenders out of position.

Robb scored his second goal shortly before time, banging Berne Clark's rebound into the net.

The victory kept United one point behind the league-leading Royals who edged Vancouver City, 3-2 at Westminster.

Trailing 3-0, City rallied to score their two goals in the final 15 minutes and narrowly missed getting a tie.

Lex Henderson, Ivan Carr and Johnny McKay scored for the Royals, Brian Phibbey and Ken Harrison for City.

United returns to Athletic Park this week, meeting St. Andrews at Athletic Park, Saturday at 2:30.

Kings Surprise Eilers
Vancouver Eilers, defending Canadian women's senior basketball champions, probably left Victoria in a thoughtful mood Saturday night.

They defeated Wally Yeaman's King Realty squad 57-43 at Esquimalt High School gym, but there were times in the game when either club could have been the champion.

In the end, Eilers' superior shooting and experience allowed them to pull away from the comparatively inexperienced Kings, but for half the game Kings were every bit as good as the Vancouver club.

In the latter stages of the game, Kings' checking became spotty and Eilers broke their forwards away to pile up the only substantial lead they had during the entire game.

Eilers consistently took short leads in the first half, but Kings

Vancouver Youths Face Armed Robbery Charge

Trio Foiled in Attempt to Loot H.B.C. Store; Clerks Capture One of Bandits

VANCOUVER, Nov. 3 (BUP)—Three young men appeared in police court here today on charges of robbery with violence in the attempt to loot the Hudson's Bay Company store credit department of nearly $12,000 here Saturday.

Police captured two of the men Saturday night in a rooming house. The third was tackled by store employees as he tried to flee with the money. The cash was recovered.

The three were identified as William Janush, 21; Donald Swan, 21; and Jack Horlick, 24, all of Vancouver. Janush was subdued by Ray McFee and George Kidd, stockroom workers.

The holdup men appeared in the fifth floor credit department during noon hour crowds. One held five cashiers at bay with what appeared to be a gun while two others stuffed money from the tills into a paper bag.

As the bandits broke and ran through the carpet department the employees took chase. As the bandit carrying the money was being hemmed in, he tried to toss the sack to a confederate, but the pass was knocked down and the employees made a flying tackle to nail the man.

Services Tuesday For Mrs. Halkett

Funeral services will be conducted Tuesday for Mrs. Lily Elizabeth Halkett, prominent member of the Women's Canadian Club and long-time resident of this city.

The wife of Alexander Halkett, Park Crest Apartments, her passing is felt deeply by many who have known her during her 40 years in Victoria and Vancouver. Mrs. Halkett was born in London, Eng., in 1887.

Bereaved are two sons, Gavin in Nanaimo and Hugh, of Victoria. She also leaves five grandchildren in Canada and two sisters and two brothers in England. Last rites will be held in Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel at 1:30 p.m. Venerable Archdeacon R. Connell will officiate. The family has asked that no flowers be sent.

DIVERS OFFER SEA BED STROLL

Veteran deep-sea diver George Luscombe and partner Sandy Logie, said today they may open their proposed "dive yourself" centre in about two weeks at a spot near the Gorge Bridge.

The diving centre will be opened to the public, they said. For a small fee Victorians will be able to don a divers' suit and do some underwater exploration.

Y's World-Wide Works Theme of Lunch Talks

C. A. SCHELL

The Victoria Gyro Club heard C. A. Schell, executive secretary of the national council of the Y.M.C.A., at its luncheon meeting today.

Mr. Schell spoke on the scope of Y work in the community, in the nation, and in the international field.

He will remain in the city four days during which he will meet staff members, the board of directors and several committees.

Mr. Schell has been on the national staff since 1937. He has just returned from a meeting of the World Alliance of the Y.M.C.A. in Athens, Greece.

Sinking or Chinese Turkestan is said to be China's richest region for strategic minerals.

$100,000 SHORT IN CHEST DRIVE

VANCOUVER, Nov. 3 (CP)—Vancouver's Community Chest campaign fell $100,000 short.

E. W. H. Brown, general campaign chairman, said today canvassers collected $1,160,000 during the five-week drive. Objective was $1,260,000.

"We have collected $9 when we needed $10," he said. The shortage "calls for economies greater than the needs of the community should permit in majority of the Red Feather services."

800 Picked Up as Kenya Authorities Hunt Mau Mau

NAIROBI, Kenya, Nov. 3 (AP)—Eight hundred Mau Mau tribesmen were arrested in the Bahati forest area north of Nakuru during the week-end as government forces combed the jungle for Mau Mau hideouts. About 100 of the men were still in custody today, a communique said.

The sweep established that the forest area was not being used as a centre for the secret anti-white terrorists, the government added. Forty-six Africans were arrested in Nairobi Sunday in two raids on African locations.

A by-law to regulate the uniformity of buildings in the Up-lands will be given public hearing at the regular 8 p.m. council meeting at Oak Bay Municipal Hall, Wednesday.

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

It is reported that both presidential candidates rested quietly yesterday.

It is likely they were both suffering from "I" strain.

After tomorrow, things will be easier for Mr. Stevenson and Gen. Eisenhower.

One will be appointed, and the other disappointed. But with the amount of dirt tossed around during this campaign, I expect the winner will be a good mudder.

If anyone kept a diary of THIS election campaign, it would be safe to call it a scrap book.

Speaking of scraps, I seem to be getting into one because of Punch's attitude toward cats.

As witness the following letter:

"Dear Monte Roberts:

"Listen, you dog lover, this is going far enough about your Punchie hating cats!!!"

"Both you and your dog look alike from the back view anyhow—long hair I mean—all you need is a collar yet! And don't forget to get one soon. During the 'cat week' some female cat will put one on you with a bell!"

"If you like your Punch so much, you should like all animals including soft prr prr cats."

"So you like mice huh? Hope you get a mouse in every drawer in your office minus your lunch. Buy yourself a mouse and one for your kin Punch."

(signed) Lover of Humans and Animals."

This letter leaves me sort of breathless and ashamed. I am sorry, dear lover of humans and animals, I have tried hard, but I can develop no affection for a cat.

I take one look in the cold, contemptuous, self-satisfied eyes of a cat, and immediately wish to be elsewhere.

However, the fact that I do not love cats will not bother the cats.

Cats just plain don't give a hoot for the best human who ever walked.

Cats don't need affection.

The other paper reports: "QUALICUM SANE ON HALLOWEEN."

It's all right one night in the year, but don't let it happen too often.

Have you ever noticed the versatility of hearing achieved by children?

They have a wonderful ability to hear certain words and phrases, and completely miss out on others.

For instance, a 12-year-old can never hear the words "wash," or "pick up," or "stop."

But the same 12-year-old can hear a whisper at 50 paces if the whisper contains the magic words "cake" or "movie."

I believe the reason youngsters have this facility is hereditary.

They get it from their fathers, who have developed the technique of the newspaper shield to tune words in and out.

If father is buried behind his paper, he cannot hear words like "bargain," or "fix," or "supper dance."

Yet the paper is no barrier if the words mentioned are "fishing," or "pretty girl," or "evening at home."

The skill is passed on from generation to generation, improving as it goes, and everyone is happy.

Except mother.

Two new polio cases today increased B.C.'s 1952 polio total to 501, the provincial health department reported.

The latest victims are an eight-year-old boy in Vancouver and a nine-year-old Surrey boy.

There have been no new deaths, total fatalities this year remaining at 29.

Ss. Northleigh, W. & J. Tatem Co. London was scheduled to finish lifting 600,000 feet of Lumber at Ogden Point today, and move to Alberni for additional cargo.

The 5,400-ton freighter is bound for United Kingdom Ports, and is a frequent visitor in Victoria.

King Bros. Ltd. are agents.

New tenders for the proposed Tofino hospital will be called in the early Spring.

Plans for the hospital are now being revised here by architect Henry Whittaker after the lone original bid was considered too high.

Young vandals Sunday night invaded the yard of W. Cumming, 1560 Burton, scattered a pile of wood and tore down a radio aerial, police were told.

Mrs. G. S. Wismer, 1021 Gillespie Place, reported to city police last Sunday night that several boys had raided her garden and stolen a number of chrysanthemums. The boys escaped.

Midnight boat from Vancouver Sunday was an hour late in arriving here today. Princess Joan docked at 8 a.m. after being delayed at Vancouver two hours awaiting the arrival of Premier Bennett and other officials from Squamish following the return of the special P.G.E. inaugural train to Prince George.

Two occupants in a car stopped by city police Sunday wound up in city police court this morning and were fined a total of $80 for motor vehicle regulations infractions.

Lee A. Woodside, 512 Constance, was fined $25 for violation of a restricted driver's license and $25 more for using a license belonging to another person.

Richard I. MacCallum, same address, was fined $20 for allowing Woodside to use his license.

John Proby, 945 Metcosh, was fined $50 in city police court today for dangerous driving at Shelbourne and Lansdowne Saturday. He pleaded guilty. Magistrate H. C. Hall also suspended the driver's license for two months.

Baby's Death Probed

Driver Involved
Still Not Named

An inquest will be held either Tuesday or Wednesday at McCall Bros. Funeral Parlors in the traffic death of 15-month-old Errol Warner Williams, on a driveway of the Belmont Motel and Trailer Camp, Colwood, during the noon hour Saturday.

R.C.M.P. report the inquest is tentatively set for Tuesday at 10.30, but that it might be delayed until the day after, depending on police success to secure a witness in the case.

The little boy is reported to have been crushed under the wheel of a milk truck in the trailer camp. He was pronounced dead on arrival at St. Joseph's Hospital.

He was the youngest child of Mr. and Mrs. K. S. Williams.

DRIVER NOT NAMED

Colwood detachment of the R.C.M.P. would not reveal the name of the truck driver—believed to have been involved "until we gather more evidence."

There were apparently no eye-witnesses to the accident, which occurred 100 feet from a trailer in which the little boy lived with his parents.

The dead boy's eight-year-old brothers, Kenneth and Wayne, said they shouted to the milk truck driver as he drove away and they saw their small brother lying on the driveway.

The driver of a truck who had been in the park, found by police in a nearby coffee shop, said he was unaware of any accident having occurred.

Germ Warfare 'Proved' Says Victoria Man

A Victoria trade unionist said in Vancouver today he saw and heard evidence in China that United States used bacteriological warfare in Korea.

Elgin Neish, one of British Columbia's three delegates to the recent "peace conference" in Peking, China, said delegates have studied scientific reports, "a display of bombs, flies and bacteria" and heard accounts of U.S. airmen who admitted making the raids.

"I don't see how anybody with a sense of justice can deny it," said Neish, vice-president of the Victoria local of United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union (T.L.C.).

Neish attended the conference with Mr. and Mrs. Ray Gardner of Vancouver. Mrs. Gardner is liable to lose her job as a city librarian for overstaying her leave of absence.

Neish said the Gardners would probably attend another conference in Vienna before returning home.

Gardner, along with Dr. J. G. Endicott of Toronto, was named to a permanent committee which will continue the Peking conference's work, Neish said.

Neish said the conference was not Communist-inspired nor controlled and that delegates spoke on any subject they wished and were permitted to see what they desired.

City Lands Sale Nets Only $4,971

Seven of 22 properties were sold at a city sale today for a total of $4,971.

Two vacant lots reverted to the city.

Balance of 13 properties will be put on sale in City Council Chamber by City Assessor-Collector A. G. Joyce, Tuesday morning at 10.

Seven properties sold to private buyers realized $2,584 over the upset price, at which bidding starts. The upset price is the total of three years back taxes plus interest.

Bidding which started on one house and lot at $1,400 went to $2,500 in jumps of $25. Another started at $560 and went to $1,050. "Owners have one year in which to redeem property by paying the upset price and interest," Mr. Joyce said.

High Commission From India Coming For Coast Visit

Victoria can expect a visit next week from Ramji Ram Saksena, India's high commissioner to Canada.

The high commissioner and his wife are scheduled to be in Vancouver Saturday and are expected to visit Victoria on Monday or Tuesday.

A spokesman for Victoria's East Indian community said plans for welcoming the high commissioner would be made when the date of his arrival is known.

BY-ELECTION NOW DOUBTFUL

The provincial government doesn't appear to be in a hurry to call a by-election to fill the Lillooet seat left vacant by the death of Ernest Carson.

Premier W. A. C. Bennett said today he hasn't considered the matter.

Official sources, however, are convinced the government will not call a by-election this year. Weather conditions would make a December or January by-election difficult, and the Legislature is scheduled to meet early in February.

This practically rules out a by-election until after the session—and then a by-election may be unnecessary because a general election next Summer is a possibility.

Murdoch Still Seeks to Kill 'Unfair' Tax

Macmillan Fears Increasing Burden

Abolition of the poll tax was asked by Ald. Brent Murdoch at a meeting today of a special City Council committee named to study the matter.

He said the tax was "unfair" and had long since lost its original meaning of placing some levy on non-property owners for civic services. He contended persons renting pay taxes indirectly through increased rents when taxes are boosted.

Ald. Robert Macmillan agreed the tax was unfair but wanted to know where the city would get the $25,000 revenue it now gets from poll tax.

"That is secondary," replied Ald. Murdoch. "If the tax is unfair it should not be collected."

Said Ald. Macmillan: "You are just taking the poll tax off and dumping it onto the property owner. How do you prevent general taxes from going up if we lose this $25,000?"

He thought Ald. Murdoch should provide a solution to the revenue problem when asking abolition of the poll tax.

Ald. Murdoch suggested a straight $25,000 curtailment of civic expenses.

"Where are you going to take it off—the mayor's salary, the aldermen's salary?" queried Ald. Macmillan.

Ald. Murdoch said the matter could be threshed out at budget time. He stated that Saanich is repealing both its road and poll taxes.

Weatherman Says Clouds and Rain Possible Tuesday

Cloudy skies Tuesday and possible rain in the late afternoon were predicted today for Victoria with the development of a storm at the north end of Vancouver Island.

Falling pressures and increasing winds prompted gale warnings today in Queen Charlotte Strait, Queen Charlotte Sound, and Vancouver Island's north-west coastal waters.

Winds here, however, will be easterly at about 15 miles per hour, according to the forecast, and temperatures will range between 48 and 53 degrees.

Slander Against Chinese Never Uttered, Says Chief

City Police Commission has exonerated Constable James Baxter on a charge that he injured the good name of the Victoria Chinese community.

Edward James Minnie, Victoria youth, convicted on a charge of obstructing passers-by on Yates Street, between Douglas and Blanshard, told city police court that Const. Baxter said to him: "Why aren't you down in Chinatown; you shouldn't be up here among decent people!"

Through counsel Alan B. Macfarlane, the Chinese Consolidated Benevolent Association asked the police commission to conduct a full investigation into the alleged statement by the officer.

The Chinese society wanted a severe reprimand imposed if the officer had made such a remark and asked that a public statement be made should the charge be found false.

"Constable Baxter denies having made such a statement. He is a clean-living young man; cool and calm during his operations on police duty—and I don't think he ever said such a thing," Chief of Police John Blackstock told the commission.

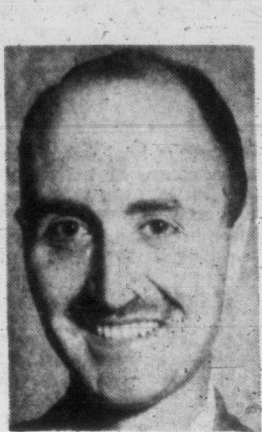

"I'll accept the constable's view in this matter," said Commissioner Brent Murdoch. Chairman Mayor Claude Harrison agreed.

Minnie was arrested by police in the present campaign to crush rowdiness in the city by drapery-suiting young men.

Political 'Big Guns' Ready For By-Election Campaigns

FINANCE MINISTER EINAR GUNDERSON

ATTORNEY-GENERAL BONNER

E. T. KENNEY

First Salvos To Be Heard Wednesday

The Social Credit and Liberal campaigns in the Nov. 24 Columbia and Similkameen by-elections will be started this week.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner and Finance Minister Einar Gunderson leave Victoria tonight for the interior where the fledgling government will undergo its first test.

Mr. Bonner will make his first address November 5 at Wilmer. Details of Mr. Gunderson's campaign are not known.

Liberal House leader E. T. Kenney will open Liberal candidate George Keenleyside's campaign at Golden on November 6.

The candidate's campaign committee includes Tom King, former member, Mrs. D. Gould, Mr. and Mrs. Vaughan Kimpson, Eugene LaRue, Sam Thompson, Douglas McBeath and Fred Barlow.

Stuart Tait of Golden and Mr. Kimpson of Windermere are co-campaign managers for Mr. Keenleyside.

DAY AND NIGHT

The attorney-general explained that his campaign will be characterized by a personal canvassing day, and speeches at night.

His "big night" will be at Golden November 17 when Premier W. A. C. Bennett and Education Minister Tilly Rolston, two experienced campaigners, will support the attorney-general.

Other cabinet ministers scheduled to participate in the campaign are Lands and Forests Minister Robert Sommers, Public Works Minister P. A. Gardiner, Labor Minister Lyle Wicks and Agricultural Minister Kenneth Kierman.

Both ministers plan on being away from the capital most of the time between now and election day.

MEETS PEOPLE

Mr. Bonner, whose riding has only 3,631 registered voters but is sprawling, has high hopes of meeting a majority of the voters personally.

Mr. Gunderson will have a tougher job meeting as many voters on a personal basis because the Similkameen riding has 15,043 persons eligible to vote.

The by-elections were necessitated when Similkameen M.L.A. Rev. Harry Francis and Columbia M.L.A. R. O. Newton resigned to allow Mr. Gunderson and Mr. Bonner, non-elected ministers, to contest the seats.

Premier Bennett found it necessary to appoint these two ministers when he discovered none of the 19 elected Soreeds had the professional qualifications to fill the important portfolios.

Mr. Bonner's competition in Columbia will be Liberal George Keenleyside and C.C.F.-er Chris Madsen. Mr. Gunderson will have a straight fight with C.C.F.-er H. S. Kenyon in Similkameen.

Ss. Exmore was in to Ogden Point for bunkers over the weekend, and has shifted to Alberni to commence loading lumber. She is expected to return to this port in a few days.

Three Small Boys, Halloween Victims, Still in Hospital

Three of four children injured by fireworks in Halloween accidents were still in hospitals today.

All were reported "doing well and in good condition."

At Royal Jubilee Hospital, is James Etter, 10, of Townsend Drive, with burns suffered when fireworks in one of his pockets exploded.

In St. Joseph's were Sandy Medist, 11, of 640 Speed, also burned when fireworks in a pocket exploded, and Glen Smith, 11, of 3163 Gamma, who suffered facial burns from exploding fireworks.

Edward Woloschuk, 14, of 2121 Sayward, was released from the Jubilee Sunday. He was hit in the back by a home-made bomb with a lead pipe casing.

Unions Challenge Shipwright Voters

Trade unionists expect the Labor Relations Board to decide this week on the eligibility of 20 of the 49 Yarrow's Ltd. shipwrights who voted Thursday on a "choice of union" representation.

The men were to choose which of two unions they wanted to represent them in collective bargaining—either the Carpenters' Union (T.L.C.), or Local 9 of the Shipwrights' Union (C.C.L.).

Unions challenged the eligibility of 20 of the men to vote.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Cookie Cutters Are Now Fashioned in Plastic

By PENNY SAVER

Something new has been added to the line of cookie cutters. You can now buy, for the reasonable sum of 75 pennies, a set of plastic cookie cutters.

They're wonderful because the plastic sheds the batter and you don't have a gooey mess all over the place.

The set has arrived in plenty of time for your Christmas baking.

Included in the plastic cutters is a Christmas tree, snowman, horse, bunny, reindeer and a star.

Do you like candles in your home? I think they can be very attractive when chosen to blend with interior colorings.

For those interested there is a new line of candles being carried in the city now. They sell very much the same as wool as far as dye lots go. Meaning that if you buy a candle of one shade and then want to match it up later you will get the exact shade not one slightly lighter or darker as so often happens.

These particular candles burn longer, too. It is said they only burn about one inch in an hour.

The candles come in four sizes with 15 colors in each. The 10-inch candles sell for 20 pennies, 12-inch for 25; 15-inch for 30 and 18-inch for 35.

A vase I saw this morning was just like a daffodil bursting into bloom. A hand-painted mold of a daffodil has been styled to hang on the wall.

The English china wall vase is priced at 90 pennies. Other vases the same style only duplicating other flowers are priced the same.

Dainty demitasse cups in Queen Anne china, beautifully patterned, were priced at $1.50 in a store I visited this morning.

Other cups, all good English china, were priced from 45 pennies. They came in all colors and all patterns.

I was attracted by eight and nine-inch plates in a blue wind-mill pattern which were selling for 10 pennies. A real bargain for you.

Matchless are also available.

Tall Girl Needs Simple Lines in Her Wardrobe

Here is some advice from Peg Newton, whose flattering clothes for tall women have made her name a household word when ever the house had a tall girl in it. I had a long talk with her the other day because you, tall readers seem to want help.

Here are some of the principles which Miss Newton uses in designing clothes for tall women.

1. The tall woman can wear a straight skirt or a full one so long as it really fits her. Her straight skirt should not be too narrow because she naturally has a long gait, since she has long legs. If the skirt is too narrow it will make her walk awkwardly.

2. Flying panels break the long line from waist to hem. They should start their fullness low at the hips. Unpressed pleats are good. They should be narrow at the hip bone and wide at the hem. The most becoming skirt length is mid-calf, just as it is for most women. Extremely short skirts emphasize rather than minimize height. These make you look all legs.

3. The tall woman should have as much width in the shoulders as fashion permits. Fullness across the chest and shoulders are fine for her.

4. Never go in for clutter in your clothes. Simple lines with little decoration are best.

5. Accentuate your costume with one dramatic touch. This can be one big pin or clip or ornament of some sort, or a big choker.

6. Avoid "little girl" collars and cuffs and tiny buttons. Wear chunky ornaments and long gloves and carry big handbags.

7. Contrasting colors are effective in breaking height. Peplums are good. So are bulky pockets and broad belts. The same goes for stoles and scarves.

I have already said in this column that above-average height can be an asset. A recent survey of 124 members of a Tall Girls' Club in Chicago showed 15 different careers. They were secretaries, nurses and artists.

It's hard to find a hot beverage suitable to serve at teenagers evening parties, comes cold weather. The youngsters in our house take a can apricot whole fruit nectar, a few grains of salt, ¼ cup orange marmalade and heat to boiling and simmer gently for a few minutes. Just before serving the steam hot, refreshment they put about a teaspoon of butter into their small mugs and pour the hot "brew" over it. The resulting product is pronounced "wonderful."

There's something very luxurious about almonds. They "make" the party. Roasted and salted, blanched or unblanched, almonds have a wonderful flavor and a crisp texture that's hard to beat. Good taste goes hand-in-hand with good nutrition, for almonds contain all of eight vitamins—carotene (provitamin A), thiamin, riboflavin, tocopherol, niacin, pyridoxine, biotin and choline.

Petting Is a Sure Way To Lose Boys' Respect

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, Ph.D.

Does a girl have to pet to be popular? And, should she pet just because other girls in her group do? That is the problem facing this young teenager:

(Q) "I am only 13 but I have already run into boy problems. My friends are boy crazy and resent that I won't go on petting parties. I think I am too young. One by one, my friends are dropping me. My parents have consented to my dating but I don't think they would like me to go to these parties. What shall I do?"

(A) Do just what you are doing. Don't go to petting parties just to be in vogue. Buying popularity is cheap. In time, you'll win the popularity you desire by following the tactics you are now using.

It's natural for girls to be boy-crazy in their early teens. But if you're interested in boys only as friends, it's silly to pretend differently.

I'm sure your parents would not like you to attend these parties. I question whether the parents of your friends know about them or approve of them. Few parents do.

Your friends are insincere if they drop you for so slight a reason. If, however, you are self-righteous and show your disapproval, then they might have some cause.

Boys soon lose respect for girls who are willing to pet with anyone. Keep on as you are now doing. It will pay you in the long run.

If you have a personal problem, write Elizabeth Hurlock in care of this newspaper.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

The next time you buy dried fruits remember they are an economy buy because they are concentrated. It requires 6 to 8 pounds of fresh fruit to make 1 pound of dried apricots; 4 pounds of fresh fruit to make 1 pound of raisins; 2½ pounds of fresh fruit to make 1 pound of dried prunes; 6 to 7 pounds each of peaches and pears to make 1 pound of dried fruit.

Ripe olives taste good by themselves, they taste good in salads and casseroles, but have you ever tasted them in soups? No? Cut meaty wedges of ripe olives from the pits and add them to potato soup, corn chowder or bouillabaisse, and see what an important ingredient they become in making your favorite soup taste better than ever before.

A Word About Television

Three Years Ago We Said (In part)

It has always been our policy to handle only the best merchandise at the lowest cost which will be free of excess service problems. We have, therefore, decided to wait for television receivers which we can recommend with confidence are the best available as to performance, price and future service.

ONE YEAR AGO WE SAID

In the past two years we have tested under all conditions, numerous makes of television receivers, and have tried all types of installations.

We have sent our technicians to the United States for practical experience, we have equipped our service department with the necessary tools and equipment. As a result we are now really ready, and have been for some time to recommend television for your enjoyment, and what is more, guarantee you satisfactory installation and reception at the lowest possible cost. Remember, the best receiver improperly installed will not give you satisfaction... we prefer to install a television properly or not at all.

Today We Have This to Say

You can now buy with confidence in the knowledge that the sets we recommend are good for years of satisfactory service. In our opinion the principle improvement in reception will come through better broadcasting equipment and output, rather than any radical change in sets.

Television is a far greater means of entertainment and education than radio, and soon a home without television will be as rare as a home without radio today.

Remember, the direct line is now completed linking you to all the big centres in the U.S.A. so the best programs are available when and where they originate.

We have installed sets in almost every area in Greater Victoria and the Saanich Peninsula, and this experience enables us to recommend the set and the installation suitable for you.

PRAISES FARM LIFE

ETHELTON, Sask., Nov. 3 (CP) — Mrs. Nancy Adams thinks it's high time someone started to point out the advantages of living on a farm.

Now she is in a position to do it.

Mrs. Adams is the only woman member of a Saskatchewan Royal Commission appointed to investigate agricultural problems in the province.

Convincing farmers that it is good to live in a farm will be part of the job of Mrs. Adams and the six-member commission. Mrs. Adams, a university graduate, lives on a farm in the Ethelton district of central Saskatchewan.

"I'm an ex-school teacher married to a farmer," she said in an interview. "And we live on a farm because we like it."

'Who Are You?' Popular Question at Dance

Hiding their identities under ghostly masks and weird headdresses, members of the Victoria Lawn Tennis and Badminton Clubs held Halloween revel last Saturday evening at a dance in the clubhouse. His Satanic Majesty Mephistopheles cracked the whip and his cadaverous and shrouded subjects answered to his commands. Decorations, in the Halloween theme included a grinning skull placed on top of the piano. Among the legion of costumed dancers were Mr. and Mrs. W. Dunbar, Miss Gwynn Dawson, Jack Parker, Art Miller, Miss Jenny Williams, Jim Anderson, Miss Pat Salmon, Miss Joyce Folbigg, Miss Molly Idiens, Phil Bodman and Bob Cole, who in the above picture, so successfully bemused the photographer (a club member), he was unable to remember "who was who."

Pat Slavin-Laverne Johnson Wed in St. John's Saturday

Red and white chrysanthemums created an attractive floral setting in St. John's Anglican Church Saturday for the wedding of Mary Patricia Slavin and Laverne Johnson.

Canon George Biddle officiated for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Slavin, Heather Street, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Johnson, Cedar Hill Crossroads.

Frederick Chubb played traditional wedding music as the bride walked up the aisle on the arm of her father.

She wore a gown of double net over tulle with fitted bodice topped with Chantilly lace jacket with self-covered buttons extending down the front. The sheath sleeves came to a lily-point and her bridal veil, which was framed in lily of the valley pattern, misted to chapel-length from a bonnet-style headpiece. The bride's bouquet was red roses and white stephanotis in crescent shape.

Maid of honor, Miss Sally Slavin, sister of the bride, wore a blue net strapless gown with net stole and a headdress matching the bride's. Other attendants were Carol Slavin, sister of the bride, in a similar gown in yellow; Joyce Johnson, sister of the groom, in pink and Terry Tremblay in turquoise. They all carried bouquets of autumn flowers.

Kenneth Murphy was best man and ushers were James Thompson.

Member Welcomed — Mrs. Janet Winter, who has been visiting in Auburn, Calif., was welcomed to meeting of Women's Benefit Association, Pioneer Club held at Lullie Street home of Mrs. M. Thompson. Assisting the hostess was Mrs. M. Greco and a vote of thanks was given Mrs. Thompson by Mrs. P. Stephen.

Members attending were Mesdames J. Adams, J. Addison, A. Brown, M. Dunsmore, H. Jacques, K. Jackson, B. Langley, A. Malcolm, M. Morley, S. McNeill, J. Ricketts, E. Roberts, M. Smith, M. Stephen, M. Todd, T. Veitch, K. White, B. Wait, J. Winter and Miss Carol Ann Greco.

Fall fair will be held Friday at 7 in Margaret Jenkins School. There will be stalls of market produce, sewing, cooking, candy and superfluties; also a fish pond, games, variety show, movies, hobby and animal show, ice cream, pop and hot dogs. The fair is under convener-ship of Mrs. W. Bergstrom.

Jr. Auxiliary Rally at Memorial Hall

Toys, novelties, jewelry and small dressed dolls, in many cases made by the donors, were a feature of a junior auxiliary rally at Christ Church last Saturday afternoon. The gifts will be sent to the Columbia Coast Mission Ship to be distributed at Christmas to children in the vicinity of Kingcome Inlet.

To open the rally, 98 girls, all members of the Anglican Junior

Auxiliary of the Women's Auxiliary, marched with their banners into Christ Church Cathedral for a worship service conducted by Dean Beattie. The group then returned to Memorial Hall for a luncheon.

Games and singing were enjoyed and a program presented as follows: Candle-light service entitled "Father of Lights," St. John's Branch; worship service and business meeting, Cathedral Juniors; song and singing game; St. Mary's; folk dancing; St. Mark's; action songs and hymns; St. Luke's; game; St. Martin's; group singing and action songs; St. Saviour's; group singing; St. John's, Colwood, and group singing and action songs, St. Mary's, Metchosin.

Mrs. R. O. Taylor, diocesan women's auxiliary president, brought greetings from the senior group and addressed the girls; Mrs. W. Lowery, diocesan junior secretary-treasurer.

Married At Quiet Ceremony

Vestry of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church was scene of a quiet ceremony Saturday evening, uniting June Margaret Kroeger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kroeger, Belton Avenue, in marriage with Eugene Everett Phillips, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Phillips, Tofield, Alta. Rev. J. L. W. McLean officiated.

The bride chose a two-piece rose suit with fitted jacket complemented with navy velvet hat, matching suede accessories and bouquet of gardenias and sephantitis.

Mrs. Dorothy Mullen, matron of honor, wore a two-piece navy blue and white tie-silk dress with pink feathered hat and pink and navy accessories. Her flowers were pink roses.

Jack Brown was best man. A wedding supper for immediate family was held at the Strathcona Hotel.

For traveling to the mainland on her honeymoon the bride wore a wine knitted suit with blue and white checked topcoat.

The rink, with an ice surface 72 by 146 feet, will seat 600 spectators, and will have a coffee bar, office, rest rooms, and lounge.

Perfume That Clings

Q.—Dear Claire: I adore perfume, but for some reason or other its fragrance just does not last on me. I have told several of my friends that I want a new perfume, but first I must find out about a lasting one.

—Mrs. A. W.

A.—A particularly good idea for women who claim that perfume does not "stay with them" is a brand new fragrance medium by Houbigant called Liquid Skin Sachet. It smoothes on the skin very easily and lingers longer because of its sachet base. It has a slower rate of diffusion and evaporation than any other type of fragrance. Try this Houbigant Liquid Skin Sachet. Available in 3 famous fragrances: Chantilly, Quelques Fleurs, Le Parfum Ideal. Only $2.

ISLAND DIGEST

UCLUELET, Nov. 3—A road from the Alberni to the west coast of Vancouver Island is more necessary than ever now that Alberni Valley timber is not available to small logging operators, Tom Christie, business agent for the West Coast Small Operators' Association, told the chamber of commerce here.

NANAIMO, Nov. 3—Explosion of a home-made bomb here that shook power cables so that they touched and blew out a main fuse, plunged the city, and Vancouver Island as far north as Bowser, into darkness Friday night for more than one hour.

J. Scouler Victoria and R. Jordan Port Alberni, on Saturday were elected directors of the Automotive Transport Association of B.C. at the conclusion of the annual three-day meeting in Vancouver.

SOOKE, Nov. 3—A total of 175 guests attended the annual supper of Knox Presbyterian Church held at Sooke Community Hall. R. Gibson appealed to all members to support the building fund and complete the new church building, now under construction, as soon as possible.

38 YEARS LATE

10,000 Greet First Train

Prince George Roars Welcome to P.G.E. As Golden Spike Driven on North Link

By LLOYD BAKER, Times City Editor
ON BOARD SPECIAL P.G.E. TRAIN—The Provincial Archives at the Parliament Buildings in Victoria may soon have a new exhibit.

The people of Prince George are talking about sending to the capital a four-foot long replica of the last spike driven in the extension of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway to their thriving city.

The big, golden spike played a major role in enthusiastic celebrations in the northern city Saturday after this special train rolled into the new terminal of the government-owned railroad on the first trip over the extension.

It was paraded through the streets and taken to banquets staged to mark the completion of the 82-mile line from Quesnel, and carries the autographs of hundreds who took part in the celebrations.

Everyone aboard this first train of the P.G.E. to reach Prince George was reluctant to leave the northern city after an eight-hour visit Saturday.

Party aboard, headed by Premier W. A. C. Bennett, agreed that Prince George's hospitality is the finest.

The train arrived there at 1:30 Saturday afternoon after a ceremony down the line at Ahbau Creek where the last spike was driven.

On the "nose" of the first of two diesel locomotives which pulled 17 cars of the "special" was a sign which brought cheers from the citizens of Prince George who crowded the tracks to see the arrival.

The sign read: "Hello Prince George. We're here at last." Running of the line into Prince George was planned as long ago as 1912 and the general feeling was "better late than never."

10,000 IN STREETS
There was a big parade immediately after the arrival in which the city's children were featured. Crowds on the streets were estimated at close to 10,000. The parade through the business district ended at the Civic Centre, where Mayor Garvin Dezell gave an official welcome and there were speeches from Premier Bennett, Finance Minister Gundersen, Lands and Forests Minister Robert Sommers and Provincial Secretary Wesley Black and others.

Among the "others" was Harry Perry, former M.L.A. for the district, who has long been a leading booster of the P.G.E. He told the large gathering that at one time it was "touch and go" on the abandoning of the railroad.

There was a luncheon of barbecued beef after the Civic Centre ceremony, and while the adults of the city were getting their fill, the youngsters were being entertained and fed at a party in an auditorium nearby.

Three banquets were staged in the evening to accommodate everyone, and there was little doubt when the special train departed that celebrations would continue throughout the night.

DANCING IN STREETS
PRINCE GEORGE, Nov. 3 (BUP)—The British Columbia northlands were slowly recovering today from a binge built up for two generations to mark the extension of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway to this city.

The sign on the railway station read: "Arrivals: Train No. 1 from Squamish, due 13:00 o'clock—38 years late." But residents agreed it was well worth waiting for.

There was dancing in the streets Saturday as the double diesel-drawn train glided to a stop to officially mark the completion of the 81.9-mile extension of the P.G.E. from Quesnel to Prince George. It was the first main line extension since the line was pushed from Squamish, at the head of Howe Sound, to Quesnel, in 1917.

COALITION NOT INVITED

PRINCE GEORGE, B.C.—Disappointment was evident over the absence of ex-premier Byron Johnson and the former minister of finance, Herbert Anscomb, at opening ceremonies of the Quesnel-Prince George extension of the P.G.E. over the weekend.

As co-leaders of the coalition government which put through the long-awaited line into this northern city, they should have been invited to the celebrations, several leading citizens told visiting coast newspapermen.

It is understood Premier W. A. C. Bennett's explanation for not inviting the heads of the former government was that the ceremonies were not political in nature. Had he invited Mr. Johnson and Mr. Anscomb, invitations would have had to go to many others.

Ex-premier John Hart, who also was formerly president of the P.G.E., was on hand for the celebrations and was given a warm reception.

Ottawa Flier Missing After Plane Crashes in Mountains

OTTAWA, Nov. 3 (CP)—A light plane crashed near a Laurentian mountain village Sunday night and its pilot, J. K. Meagher of Ottawa, is missing, the R.C.A.F. reported today.

The plane circled for an hour over the village of St. Michel des Saints, Que., 120 miles north of Montreal, before plunging to the ground at 7:17 p.m. Villagers who saw the crash found a pack and a parachute in the cockpit before the aircraft, a Chipmunk, burst into flames.

An official of the Ottawa Flying Club said there is reason to believe Meagher, a flying officer in the R.C.A.F. reserve, parachuted from his plane before it crashed.

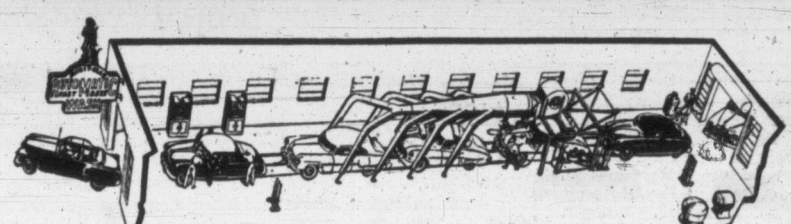

Meagher was flying from Gananoque, Ont., to Uplands Airport near here, on a routine practice flight.

WITH PRICELESS PINK LOTION
Holds the set longer than any other permanent!
"My First Home Permanent... and I'm thrilled with it! I chose New Toni because my friends told me it was best. It's given me a beautifully soft, natural-looking wave, and the curl stays for ages without re-setting."
"I've Always used Toni... and I've always liked it. But this last wave, with Priceless Pink Lotion, is the most wonderful yet! It took less time to give, yet the wave stays set longer than any permanent I've ever had."
"I've Switched to Toni... after trying all the other home permanents. I find New Toni gives me just the right amount of curl, and the wave is so lively it stays from one shampoo to the next with no re-setting at all."
REGARDLESS OF YOUR HAIR STYLE... NO MATTER HOW YOU GOT YOUR PERMANENT BEFORE... NEW TONI HOLDS THE SET LONGER!
You'll forget all other ideas about permanents the first time you use New Toni with Priceless Pink Lotion. For the new Toni process is faster, gives a wave with the vibrant spring and silky-softness of a natural wave. Yes, and it holds the set longer than any other permanent you've ever had!
Never a lotion so wonderful! You've never used anything like Toni's new Priceless Pink Lotion! It curls more completely—yet is kinder to your hair! And that means a lovelier, livelier wave for you. Less re-setting. New freedom from the nightly chore of pin curls.
Never a neutralizer so fast! You save 20 minutes with the new Permafix method of neutralizing. And because Permafix neutralizes more thoroughly, it "locks in" your Toni wave so it can't come out. New Toni means all day—every day beauty for you month after month.
Never a guarantee so complete! If you don't say your new Toni looks lovelier and holds the set longer than any other permanent you've ever had, the Toni Company will cheerfully refund your money. So try New Toni—and you be the judge.

Alberni Boys Charged With Setting Fire

ALBERNI, Nov. 3.—Four local boys, aged 16 and 17, have been charged by police with a pre-Halloween prank which nearly spoiled the Halloween fun of other children of the district. The quartette was brought in to court Friday for having set fire to a huge bonfire late Thursday night. The bonfire had been prepared by local Rotarians who intended to set the fire Friday night in connection with a Halloween party in the schoolyard. Five gallons of gasoline were used by the vandals to get the fire started. Volunteer firemen were unable to check the blaze when they arrived at the scene. The four boys believed responsible have been charged with doing wilful damage. They were remanded Friday and will appear in court on Saturday, November 8.

IT'S A HEALTHY HOBBY

Doodling Businessmen To Get Chance at Art

Busy city executives who doodle during the course of board meetings and long-distance phone calls may be seeking an outlet for an artistic soul.

A businessman's art course by the Arts Centre of Greater Victoria will offer a chance for the scratch pad muralists to learn whether they have hidden talent or whether their marginal markings merely indicate nervous indigestion.

Curator Colin Graham disclosed Friday that businessmen will be offered a diversified course, including oils, water colors, composition, design, landscape, portrait, and black-and-white drawing. Pencil and pen will supplement the brush in the wide scope of the program.

"Emphasis will be on individual development," said Mrs. Ina Uthoff, well-known art teacher, who will direct the course. No hard-and-fast rules will be laid down, because the professional men the class is intended for might find that the demands of their work make it difficult to follow a set schedule.

The fact that some who have shown interest in the project are city doctors is pointed to by Mr. Graham as indicative of the feeling of many physicians that a healthy hobby will add years to the life of a harried career man.

The course is meant to attract any adult business man who through one reason or another has had to neglect artistic training in earlier years, said the curator.

"It has happened before that unusual talents have been awakened in persons whose earlier energies have been directed to other fields... Churchill, Eisenhower and Lord Alexander are vivid examples," he added.

"The Art Centre is responding to a wave of interest that has been sweeping Britain and this continent. One American author who has adopted the 'paint to relax' habit says that painting is a sedative and a cocktail, all rolled into one," Mr. Graham declared, "...and thousands of people who felt they never could paint are amazing themselves with their latent abilities."

It is understood that the classes will start at the Moss Street centre as soon as registration is complete. Due to the desire to preserve individual attention it is intended that the first course will be limited to 10 or 12 members.

THE DOCTOR ANSWERS

Gas Insecticide Can Be Harmful

By EDWIN P. JORDAN M.D.

New developments are constantly occurring which raise important health problems. Q—Can you tell me anything about the effects of lindane gas on human beings? There are devices now on the market designed for year-round use in the home for killing flies, moths and other insects, using this gas. The claim is that the gas is harmless, but I should like information on this.

N.E.F.

A—This subject has been studied and reported on by the Committee on Pesticides of the American Medical Association. In summary of the rather lengthy reports of that committee it can be stated that there have been few reports of human poisoning from the use of lindane gas (technical benzene hexachloride).

In other words, the gas can be considered as relatively harmless to human beings, but not completely so if the concentration in the air breathed in is high enough. With regard to the use in the home of electric dispensers of this gas, it has been considered important by the Insecticide Division of the United States Department of Agriculture and other agencies that they should include protective devices which will control the amount of gas or other insecticide liberated into the air in order to avoid too high a concentration.

Q—I have been criticized for giving my children skimmed milk to drink, though both are overweight. Are they not receiving the same nourishment without the butterfat they would if they received whole milk? Mrs. G.H.

A—You are correct that skimmed milk contains the same ingredients as whole milk except for butterfat and vitamin A. In all probability, the children receive enough vitamin A in some other form, because so that if they are overweight, giving them skimmed milk would cause no harm.

Q—I am 30 years old and have three small children. Is there anything I could take to keep me from feeling so tired all the time? Mrs. A.S.

A—The chances are that the children and your other work are what is making you tired. There is no pill that can guarantee a lack of fatigue, but if you feel that the tired feeling cannot be accounted for by strenuous children and your other activities, you should have a checkup by your physician. This is to be sure that you do not have something physically wrong, such as anemia or some chronic infection.

Q—Can you tell me anything about Milroy's disease? F.A.S.

A—This is a hereditary disease which is characterized by an edema or watery swelling of the limbs. As implied by its hereditary nature, it runs in families, cannot be effectively treated but is comparatively harmless.

B.C. Auto Club Raps 'Dirty' Hostels

VANCOUVER, Nov. 3 (CP)—B.C. Automobile Association is cracking down on hotels, restaurants and auto courts that don't maintain the standards set by the association for membership. Officials have revoked the right of 100 members to display the A.A.A. sign and another 75 may face cancellation in the near future.

"Some of these places are run down and dirty and not fit to show our sign," H. F. Bird, secretary-manager, said Thursday. "Some of them have changed hands and the present owners have not kept up the high standards we set."

The association is continuing the fight for a $10 license in B.C. and uniform taxation in Canada. A delegation will go before the B.C. cabinet in "two or three" weeks to plead the case for the $10 license.

And before the House opens in Ottawa, directors of the association will invite all western federal M.P.'s to a dinner meeting to plug the drive for uniform taxation.

Eager Victoria Fans Hear Martin's Debut

Thousands of Victorians tuned in their radios Sunday evening to hear a local man make his first bid for major honors in a Canada-wide singing contest.

The program which drew such widespread attention here was "C.I.L. Singing Stars of Tomorrow." Central figure of interest to local listeners was 23-year-old

Walter Stanley Martin, bass baritone, of 728 Middleton Street. By trade an upholsterer, Mr. Martin has a large following in this city as the result of concert work undertaken in the last two years.

"Mr. Martin sang exceptionally well," his teacher, Mme. W. Lugin Fahey said.

"His goal is the $2,000 music scholarship which is awarded by Canadian Industries Limited, sponsors of Singing Stars, to the most promising young singer to appear on its program each year. Mr. Martin is the 22nd B.C. contestant who has appeared on the show during its nine-year history. While no B.C. singer has yet carried off a top award, Victoria's John Dunbar and Vancouver's Ernest Adams have both won second-place awards for male artists, and Kaye Connor and Donald Garrard of Vancouver have won honorable mention awards.

Scout Leaders Hear of Work Around World

The chairman of the Canadian Boy Scout Executive, R. C. Stevenson, addressed Victoria Scout leaders at a luncheon last week.

Mr. Stevenson's talk described scouting in other parts of the world. His audience was the Victoria and District Council of Boy Scouts.

Other Scout news concerned a recent trip to Matheson Lake by the Lions' Own Rover Crew and a Sunday at Mount Douglas where the Lions' Own Scout troop practiced map work and field cooking.

Scouts and Rovers entertained patients at Mount St. Mary's Hospital with a sing-song.

In Cub activities, presentation was made of a Cub statue and compass to Akela, George Bennett. Mr. Bennett leaves the Cadboro Bay Pack to become Scoutmaster of the Lions' Own Troop.

Six boys from the Willows-Gub Pack became "Leaping Wolves" in a ceremony recently, marking their entry into the Willows Scout Troop. They are Clyde Bogle, Michael Kennedy, Danny McPherson, Ron McKeever, Garry Troughton, and David Baker.

Boeing Delivers New Jet Bomber to U.S.

SEATTLE, Nov. 3—The Boeing XB-52 Stratofortress, second of the big eight-jet heavy bombers to fly, was turned over to the U.S. Air Force this week for an extended flight test and evaluation program.

Since its first flight on Oct. 2, a mixed crew, composed of both Boeing and air force pilots, has flown the bomber.

NINE HUNTERS FACE CHARGES AS RESULT OF HIGHWAY CHECK

As a result of a check by game wardens and R.C.M.P. on the Island Highway Sunday, several hunters will appear in Colwood court this week for various infractions of the Game Act.

At least nine hunters will be charged. The infractions include: Possession of blue grouse out of season, unlawful possession of an untaged deer, carrying loaded firearms in cars and non-residents carrying firearms without licenses.

Monkeys Don't Mind Bathing With Members of Swank Club

CALCUTTA, Nov. 3 (Reuters)—Police have decided to end the monkey business going on in suburban Hastings.

The exclusive residential area has been bothered by 500 monkeys. Police plan to deport them as "undesirables" to the United States, where they will be used for medical research.

The situation has become so bad that the fashionable Ordinance Club in Hastings has been forced to enter into an unwritten agreement with the monkeys, allowing them use of the pool on Tuesdays.

The pool is cleaned Wednesday mornings and thereafter watchmen armed with sticks, make sure that the monkeys keep their part of the bargain for the rest of the week.

FINAL BULLETINS

Fairweather Denies Murder Guilt

NANAIMO, B.C., Nov. 3 (CP)—Albert Fairweather, pale and thin, denied emphatically in Assize Court today that he was guilty of murder of Raymond Boyce near Duncan Sept. 20, 1951.

It was the opening of re-trial of the case in which he had previously been found guilty and condemned to death.

Vancouver Plumbers Reject Offer

VANCOUVER, Nov. 3 (CP)—Plumbers and Pipefitters' Union (A.F.L.) has rejected a 7½-cent wage increase offered by Vancouver steel shipyards.

The plumbers are the first of 10 unions involved in the prolonged dispute with Burrard and Pacific Drydocks to turn down the wage increase plus a company offer to pay half of medical services association costs.

Ex-Naval Veteran Jailed 3 Months

Robert John Thompson, 19, a discharged naval rating from Ontario, was sentenced to three months in Oakalla Prison Farm this afternoon by Magistrate H. C. Hall in Esquimalt Police Court. He earlier pleaded guilty to robbing former naval buddies of $250 worth of civilian clothing, raiding their lockers at H.M.C.S. Naden after entering the naval yards over the fence.

Ottawa Likes Adlai—Three to Two

In Canada, it's Adlai Stevenson three to two. That's the report of a British United Press survey on Capital Hill, Ottawa.

Government officials won't talk officially about the U.S. election. But there's been a swing to the Stevenson camp. Canadians like to think politics here are played on a much more dignified level than the U.S., and Stevenson's intellectual approach apparently has appealed to them.

You can get odds of three to two on Stevenson over Dwight Eisenhower in Ottawa today... but there's not much money being bet.

Sabre Jet Crashes, Pilot Killed

MONTREAL, Nov. 3 (CP)—A Sabre jet of the R.C.A.F. crashed today near St. Mathias, a village just east of Montreal, and the pilot was killed.

The pilot's name was withheld pending notification of next-of-kin.

B.C. Requests 4-Cent-a-Mile Top Rail Fare

The provincial government today asked the Board of Transport Commissioners at Ottawa to reduce all railway passenger fares in British Columbia to a maximum of four cents a mile.

FRANK TURLEY

Oak Bay Man Widely Known Veteran Dies

Retired businessman and former Oak Bay councillor, Frank Turley, 76, died today at St. Joseph's Hospital following a short illness.

Born in England, he fought with British forces at the siege of Mafeking in the Boer War, and saw much of Central America early in the century as a "soldier of fortune."

Mr. Turley was local manager of the Imperial Oil Ltd. until his retirement, and was a prominent executive member of Victoria Rotary Club.

His sole survivor is his son, Frank, at 318 Newport Avenue. Sands Mortuary will announce funeral arrangements.

The announcement was made by Premier W. A. C. Bennett and Attorney-General Robert Bonner.

They estimated the reduction, if granted, will save British Columbians $300,000 to $400,000 a year.

The application, presented by Charles W. Brazier, Q.C., also asked that all railway passenger fares charged in B.C. be "reduced to an amount per mile not exceeding the tolls charged for the same distances and for the same class of fares in other provinces."

Railways affected by such a reduction would be the C.P.R., C.N.R., E. and N. and Northern Alberta.

The government claims that fares provided by the Standard Mileage, Passenger Tariff "unjustly discriminate between B.C. and other Canadian provinces contrary to section 314, and other sections of the Railway Act."

Differentials, if ever justified, are not justified now because the volume and condition of traffic is changed, Mr. Bonner said.

He said the province alleges that all passenger fares in the S.M.P.T. or other tariffs of the railways which exceed four cents a mile, or are higher than the fares charged for similar distances and class of fare in other provinces, are "unreasonable and unjust" to B.C.

Vancouver Stocks Closing Prices

Stocks faded slightly from earlier gains in the final session at Vancouver today, but finished at a fractionally higher level than the previous close.

Western oils and industrials were ahead. Base metals spotted a small majority of light losses. In the mines, Quatsino finished at 58c, Silvan 53c, up 8; Pacific Nickel ended 7 to 9c in active trade.

New Continental was actively traded among the oils and closed at $17.5, up 15.

TIMES ELECTION SERVICE INCLUDES EXTRA EDITION

Because of the intense interest in the U.S. presidential election tomorrow the Victoria Daily Times will give a full service on the returns.

For telephone information the number is Beacon 3131. From the Canadian and Associated Press services, and the British United Press, the progressive counting of ballots will be reported, with analysis of trends to give the indicated results as soon as possible.

Shortly after 9 p.m., which will be midnight in the eastern states, the Times will issue an extra giving the latest returns up to that time. Should there be a landslide one way or another, it will almost certainly be indicated by that time.

Hot Campaign Ends Tonight

Ike and Adlai Forces to Fill Air, TV Screens With Last-Minute Pleas

NEW YORK, Nov. 3 (CP)—The worst election campaign in United States history will wind up tonight with expensive bursts of television and radio oratory from two cities.

Dwight Eisenhower, Republican candidate for President, has chosen Boston for the wind-up of his campaign.

Adlai Stevenson, Democratic nominee, will deliver election eve addresses in Chicago. Stevenson, President Truman, Vice-President Alben Barkley and Senator John Sparkman of Alabama, Democratic candidate for Vice-President, will join in a final appeal over four TV and radio networks at 10:30 p.m. EST (7:30 PST).

Stevenson was reported today carefully putting the finishing touches to his speech. One of his advisers said "this one will be all Stevenson. He wanted to write every word of it himself—and we don't know what he will say."

At 10 p.m. EST Eisenhower will make his last major address in a rally in the Boston Garden Auditorium. The speech will be televised and broadcast by Seattle station KJR at 7 p.m. PST.

At 11 p.m. he takes part in an hour-long TV and radio presentation over four TV and four radio networks.

MRS. GEO. PEPPIN

City Woman's Strange Death Under Inquiry

Instantly killed when she was struck in the eye by a Halloween rocket during Vancouver's celebrations, Mrs. George Peppin, 28, was a Victoria woman.

She is the former Miss Vera Bartlett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Bartlett, of 1868 Forrester Street.

An inquest into her extraordinary death will be held Tuesday. Mrs. Peppin was at Central Park watching the fireworks with her 18-month-old daughter, Marilyn Mae, in her arms when the skyrocket struck her in the eye. The rocket penetrated her brain. The child was unhurt.

Mrs. Peppin served in the Women's Division of the R.C.A.F. during the Second World War. Her husband is employed as an engineer for the Canadian Pacific Airlines.

Her brother is Tommy Bartlett, who left the Oak Bay Police force recently to work for Crown Zellerbach in Port Angeles.

Her twin sisters, Vivian and Francis, both live in Victoria.

Stevenson Continues To Gain Strength

NEW YORK, Nov. 3 (AP)—Survey of three public opinion polls today showed them inclined to think Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower is ahead in the United States presidential race—but none flatly picked him to win.

The three, which have made their final surveys, are the Crossley poll, the Elmo Roper poll and the Samuel Lubell analysis made for the Scripps-Howard newspapers. Gallup poll results will not be available until tonight.

The Crossley conclusion was that, as of the middle of last week, Eisenhower, the Republican candidate, would get 47.7 per cent of the popular vote to 42.3 for Governor Adlai E. Stevenson and 0.4 for other candidates. The poll listed 9.9 per cent of the vote as undecided.

Roper said: "Our final poll, for which the interviewing ended only Friday night, shows that there are enough people still undecided to throw this election either way."

"Enough persons who voted for President Truman in 1948 have told me they intend to vote Republican this fall so that General Eisenhower should win the election."

'Can Still Go Either Way'

"Should the pro-Eisenhower trend prove strong enough to crack three or four of the big city states, then Ike would win by a landslide."

Archibald M. Crossley, director of the Crossley poll, noted that his figures leaned toward the Republican nominee, but he added: "There are four major reasons why the final conclusion must be that the election can still go either way."

He went on to cite them as follows: "The extremely narrow margins by which states with large electoral votes, such as New York, Illinois and others are likely to be won by one side or the other."

"Our electoral system which makes it possible for a candidate, even with a minority of popular votes, to win the election by a considerable majority in the electoral college."

"Whatever last-minute effect there may be of dramatic announcements, or of aggressive promotion by either side, on the late decision for whom to vote or whether to vote at all."

"The normal allowable variation involved in a sample of the population."

Outcome 'Highly Uncertain'

NEW YORK, Nov. 3 (AP)—The New York Times says today that reports from its correspondents throughout the United States indicate that the outcome of Tuesday's presidential contest is "highly uncertain."

According to the reports, the Times says, neither Republican Dwight Eisenhower nor Democrat Adlai Stevenson "can be regarded as now as certain of election."

The newspaper's lead story added: "The reports indicate that the vote in many states might be so close that either candidate could obtain a sizeable majority of the electoral votes."

"In other words, a comparatively few thousand votes, placed properly in the seemingly doubtful states, may determine the result of the election."

There are 531 electoral votes, and 266 are necessary to elect a president. The Times, which supports Eisenhower, gives this state-by-state breakdown of the outlook— as recorded by correspondents with the electoral votes in each state:

'Sure' States Favor Stevenson

For Eisenhower—Maine 3, New Hampshire 4, Vermont 3, New Jersey 16, Indiana 13, Nebraska 6, Kansas 8, North Dakota 4, South Dakota 4, Idaho 4, Oregon 6—Total 73.

For Stevenson—Missouri 13, Kentucky 10, West Virginia 12, North Carolina 14, South Carolina 8, Georgia 12, Alabama 11, Mississippi 8, Arkansas 6, Oklahoma 8—Total 100.

Eisenhower leading—New York 45, Pennsylvania 32, Maryland 10, Ohio 25, Michigan 20, Wisconsin 12, Minnesota 11, Virginia 12, Montana 4, Wyoming 3, Colorado 6, New Mexico 4—Total 183.

Stevenson leading—Rhode 1, Delaware 3, Illinois 27, Florida 10, Louisiana 10, Tennessee 11—Total 65.

Doubtful—Massachusetts 16, Connecticut 8, Iowa 10, Utah 4, Arizona 4, Nevada 3, Texas 24, California 32, Washington 9—Total 119.

At this 11th hour, Americans are asked to choose between Stevenson, a gifted newcomer who has been described as "the chlorophyll and air-wick of the Democratic party," drafted for the simple purpose of sweetening the air around Washington; and Eisenhower, the national hero, a soldier-diplomat with a proven record of accomplishment.

As noted above, all my bets are on Stevenson. I think today that I'm going to lose.

Provincial by-elections'll seem pretty tame after th' American battle. Our speakers go in more fer dousin' with cold water than flingin' mud.

Only 100 million er so voters know who'll be th' next president an' they ain't sayin'—till tomorrow.

Th' P.G.E.'s long enuff in th' middle now. It's th' ends that are too short.
